PEACE CONFERENCE OPENS IN PARIS TODAY

Gen. De Gaulle Urges London, Paris Entente

World Security Pictured As Dependent On U. S.-Soviet Relations

POSSIBILITY OF WORLD WAR III IS FORESEEN

French General Employs Some Of Frankest Language Of Career

BAR-LE-DUC, France, July 28 (AP)—Gen. Charles De Gaulle urged today rapid conclusion of a British-French alliance as the keystone of an eventual bloc of Western European nations bound together for self-preservation in a world whose security he pictured as dependent upon the future relations of America and Russia.

Using some of the frankest language of his career, De Gaulle portrayed France as dwarfed between two great powers and already able to foresee the possibility of a third world war.

This war could come about, the general said, if Germany is given a chance "to find again her grandeur in joining her ambition with that of someone else."

Unfurling Of Power

De Gaulle's speech came on the eve of the European peace conference in Paris, and many observers said they felt it reflected the results of the recent meeting of the four-power foreign ministers council. Russia's announcement of her German policy at that conference spread gloom in France and touched off comment in the Paris press on the possibility of an eventual Anglo-German alliance.

"America and Russia—rich in men and resources, compact in territory, naturally protected, one by immense oceans, the other by her own expanse—are, by virtue of their size, drawn into an expansion that cloaks itself under the robes of doctrine, but which is, in the last analysis, an unfurling of power," De Gaulle told a crowd at ceremonies honoring the memory of French civilians slain by the retreating Germans in 1944.

Time Presses Due To A-Bomb

He declared that Europe could provide the "understanding" needed when the destiny of each country and each individual depends upon the "future relations of America and Russia."

"This needed harmony," he said, "implies first an entente between London and Paris. Our country has sought that entente for a long time."

Because of the atomic bomb, he added that time presses for such a pact, but he admitted there were differences which prevented its conclusion.

The primary difference, De Gaulle said, was Germany, "particularly concerning the Ruhr," and another is "our relations with the eastern Arab states."

GIANT ROCKETS TO BE BUILT FOR AIR FORCES

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—Several score giant rockets including missiles designed to reach substantially greater heights than were attained by the Nazi V-2 are to be built for the army air forces to find out more what it is like in the upper atmosphere, officials disclosed today.

Current plans call for contracts with one or more aircraft manufacturers to construct 100 rockets capable of reaching altitudes ranging upward from less than 20 miles to more than 130 miles. The total cost is estimated at approximately $2,000,000 and some are expected to be ready for firing by the fall of next year.

Elements And Not People Do Most Damage To Washington's Statuary

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—Relax, citizens. No one has (a) chipped, (b) painted or (c) smeared the Washington Statuary Collection with lipstick, or (d) painted a beard on Jefferson.

There was considerable worry hereabouts when the news sifted in from the Chicago convention of the Monument Builders of America, Inc. The monument builders said the Statue of Liberty was "littered and defaced with refuse and lipstick drawings." In fact, they said, the old girl is a "national disgrace."

Since this town has more statues than a senator has adjectives, your reporter hunted up Irving C. Root to see how the local statuary is making out.

As superintendent of the national capital parks, Root looks after 75 statues, worth millions of dollars, for us taxpayers.

His verdict: Elements, not people, do the most damage.

Ferry, Barge Crash; 13 Are Feared Dead

At Least Five Autos Plunged Into Mississippi When Boat Upsets

CARUTHERSVILLE, Mo., July 28 (AP)—A Mississippi river barge and ferry boat collided 50 yards from the Missouri shore tonight plunging at least five automobiles into the river and two hours later the ferry boat pilot was quoted as saying at least eight and possibly 13 persons were unaccounted for.

C. W. Boyer who operates a fish market near the scene of the accident said that 12 persons had been recovered from the river, one of whom died.

He said he had talked to the pilot of the ferry boat who estimated that 20 or 25 persons were in four automobiles and one pickup truck on the ferry when the crash occurred.

Boyer said he heard the collision about 9:30 p. m. (Central Standard Time) but did not realize what had happened until he saw the barge backed down river picking up persons from the dark waters.

Other estimates of the missing ran as high as 20.

The correspondent for the Memphis Commercial Appeal reported 20 persons were believed unaccounted for.

J. Thomas Markey, the correspondent, said about 40 persons were on the ferry when it was overturned by the collision.

Markey said 20 persons have been accounted for either by swimming ashore or by rescue.

Patrolman Jimmy Knight, of the Caruthersville Police Department, reported eight persons rescued from the swirling waters.

C. F. Nations, another Caruthersville newspaperman, said two bodies had been recovered.

He said he talked to a Mrs. Dooley Green, Caruthersville, who said she had been rescued but her husband was still missing.

He said a Mrs. Myers, of Caruthersville, had been rescued but that her baby had been lost.

The officer said the accident happened shortly after 9 p. m. (CST).

The officer said the ferry was crossing the river from Tennessee to Caruthersville. He said reports were that "five or six cars were on the ferry."

"The cars sank immediately," Knight said. "We don't know exactly how many cars there were, or how many people were in them."

He said the persons pulled from the river had not been identified.

Six ambulances were rushed to the scene, he said. "But if there were any people in the cars it's too late," he added. "There's no trace of the cars."

Knight said the collision occurred when the ferry attempted to go around the tow-boat and barge.

TERMINAL PAY ACCORD MAY BE REACHED TODAY

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—A joint committee of Senators and House members will attempt to reach a final agreement tomorrow on either discharged GI's get their pay for accumulated leave in cash or five-year bonds.

Both houses have approved making the payments, and the only question is the method. The house voted for cash. The Senate approved the bond plan at the insistence of treasury and budget officials, who said it would prevent inflation if the payments were postponed until five years after each veteran's discharge.

Although President Truman is reported to favor the bond payoff, the plan evoked some grumbling from the House conferees. They pointed out that the officers, who have been eligible for paid terminal leave all along, got theirs in cash.

Some of the lawmakers fear repercussions at the polls this fall if they put the GI payments on the I. O. U. basis.

Boat Runs Aground

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—The excursion boat "City of New York," with between 600 and 700 persons aboard, was grounded on a sandbar near Staten Island in New York harbor for 42 minutes this afternoon.

Decontrol Board Has Major Task, Not Much Time

Radcliffe Predicts Prompt Senate Confirmation Of Nominees

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—Speedy Senate action on President Truman's price decontrol board nominations was expected today, to permit early public hearings on whether major food items should remain free of ceilings.

"We are going to have to act at once so the board can get down to work right away on the big job it has ahead of it in the little time it has," said Sen. Radcliffe (D-Md.), a member of the Senate Banking committee.

Declaring prospects seem "definitely good" for prompt confirmation of the three men named by Mr. Truman, Radcliffe told a reporter he believes the committee will pass on the chief executive's selections tomorrow and the Senate will act Tuesday or Wednesday.

Meeting requirements of the OPA revival law, the president yesterday nominated to $12,000-a-year jobs on the new board:

Roy L. Thompson, economics professor and president of the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans, to serve as chairman.

Radcliffe Praised Bell
George H. Mead, board chairman of the Mead Paper and Pulp Company of Dayton, Ohio, and formerly an industry of the War Labor Board.

Daniel W. Bell, former acting director of the budget and undersecretary of the treasury.

Thompson is a Democrat, Mead a Republican and Bell has said he has no politics.

Radcliffe described Bell as "one of the most competent men" Mr. Truman could have named.

The senator said that while he knew Thompson and Mead "only slightly everything I have heard about them has been highly complimentary."

Created as the final authority on removal or restoration of price ceilings, the board's first big job will be to decide by August 20 whether controls should be re-established on meats, dairy products, grains, cotton seed and soybeans, along with hundreds of items made from these commodities.

If it fails to act by that time, ceilings automatically will be restored.

The board also has sole authority to control "shortage" on whether controls should be re-invoked on eggs, poultry, petroleum and tobacco and their products.

Under the law, the board is required to hold open hearings to obtain the views of consumers and industry representatives on whether ceilings should be slapped back on meats, dairy products, grains, cotton seed and soybeans.

Radcliffe said that if Mr. Truman's nominations are confirmed by mid-week, "the board probably will have taken over jobs traditionally held by CIO unionists."

A special government panel has been assigned to try to settle that dispute.

Still another cause for concern among government officials striving to keep maritime peace is the varying pattern of maritime wages recently developed. An agreement worked out here June 15 for CIO unions, preventing a serious strike, provided a $17.50 monthly wage increase plus shorter working hours at sea and in port.

The War Shipping Administration, which operates most of the merchant fleet, agreed to those terms as did the Wage Stabilization board here. Now, however, the AFL Sailors Union of the Pacific has asked the government to approve a $22.50 monthly pay boost worked out in the CIO terms so as to approve the two higher AFL agreements. If it does approve, the CIO's CMU already has served notice it wants to get pay equally as high as the AFL seamen.

The government, particularly its Wage Stabilization board, now has the problem of deciding whether it will revise upward the pattern set in the CIO terms so as to approve the two higher AFL agreements. If it does approve, the CIO's CMU already has served notice it wants to get pay equally as high as the AFL seamen.

Clues In Triple Slaying Sought

DANVILLE, Va., July 28 (AP)—Pittsylvania County Commonwealth's Attorney Joseph Whitehead, Jr., said today police still were without clues in their investigation into a triple shooting which took the lives of a 25-year-old housewife, her husband and his stepfather near Danville.

Whitehead said after the discovery of the bodies yesterday he believed "robbery was the motive of the triple slaying," and he stated today "I have no reason to change my belief."

The badly decomposed bodies of John Kizze, Sr., 55-year-old bus driver; Beatrice Kizze, his wife, and George Johnson, 70, his stepfather, were discovered in the trio's small farmhouse by Mrs. J. C. Hankins, an aunt of the slain woman.

Mrs. Hankins, whom blonde Mrs. Kizze had visited Wednesday for dress fitting, went to the Kizze home with two neighbors to take the garment and found the bodies of the two men lying on the floor of the living room of the one-story frame house. Mrs. Kizze was discovered sprawled on the bedroom floor. A .38-caliber revolver was found lying on Kizze's chest.

Dr. H. H. Hammer, Pittsylvania county coroner said from the location of the wounds and position of the bodies he believed it would have been impossible for either of the men or woman to have shot the others.

JACKSON SUMS UP U. S. CASE—United States Supreme Court Justice Robert Jackson, chief United States prosecutor in the war crimes trial at Nuremberg, Germany, sums up the American case in the eight-month trial. He demanded the conviction of 22 top Nazis as ruthless conspirators to wage aggressive war.

Ominous Labor Clouds Forming On Waterfronts

Maritime Union Rivalry And Demands Cause Concern In Capital

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—Mounting union rivalry and demands on the maritime industry blew up ominous new labor clouds today along the nation's waterfronts.

Immediately ahead is a strike CIO dock workers have voted for next Thursday which they claim may "tie up the whole West Coast" unless an agreement intervenes.

Today, the AFL disclosed that seven of its unions are prepared to band together in a national maritime council. "This group would rival the newly-formed CIO Committee for Maritime Union (CMU), the organization involved in the narrowly-averted maritime crisis of mid-June."

Already both coasts have seen a number of AFL-CIO clashes. One of these occurred at Coos Bay, Ore., where the CMU refused to load a vessel manned by members of the AFL Sailors Union of the Pacific.

Workers of this union had taken over jobs traditionally held by CIO unionists.

A special government panel has been assigned to try to settle that dispute.

Still another cause for concern among government officials striving to keep maritime peace is the varying pattern of maritime wages recently developed. An agreement worked out here June 15 for CIO unions, preventing a serious strike, provided a $17.50 monthly wage increase plus shorter working hours at sea and in port.

Eligible For Deferment

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—The Selective Service system announced today that members of the merchant marine who have served 24 months now are eligible for deferment from the draft. On October 1, 1946, the period of service will be reduced to 18 months, the announcement said. Previously it was 32 months.

BILBO OFFERED FILM ROLE AT $500 WEEK

HOLLYWOOD, July 28 (AP)—Sen. Theodore G. (The Man) Bilbo, of Mississippi, was offered today a film role at the nice round figure of $500 per week plus expenses.

Producer Bryan Foy wired Bilbo that the senator "had been quoted as bitterly resenting the manner in which Kenny Delmar has depicted southern office holders" in his radio character of "Sen. Claghorn."

Foy said he is preparing to film a picture in which Delmar, as Claghorn, defeats a rival of office, and urged Sen. Bilbo to accept a part because it "would enable you to portray a public figure from the South in a manner you deem fitting and proper."

Girl, 17, Is Found Beaten To Death

NEWARK, O., July 28 (AP)—A 17-year-old married girl was found clubbed to death early today in a grassy spot along the Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks here, her face crushed beyond recognition.

Identified by her parents as Mrs. Thelma Anderson, Newark, she was discovered by James Wilson at 6:25 this morning. The father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. William Harger, said her belongings were the only sure identification.

Police Chief Gail Christman said she was clubbed on the face, head and body and that a leather heel mark was distinctly visible on her left temple. There was "come evidence of rape," he added.

Both Christman and Licking County Sheriff William McElroy said they had no theories as to her assailant's identity.

There whereabouts of the girl's husband, Charles Anderson, was not known immediately, they said.

Police questioned one man this afternoon but gave no indication of progress in solution of the slaying.

The girl's mother said her daughter left home about 6 last night "to go up the street" and that during her stroll met a man, Mrs. Harger said she learned of the meeting from later reports.

PITTSBURGH POLICE SEEK MISSING BOY

PITTSBURGH, July 28 (AP)—One hundred and fifty police men scoured the rocky hills of Highland Park today in a search for a 9-year-old boy who has been missing from his home for 13 days.

The child, Raymond Howe, went swimming in the park waters with three sisters and brother July 15 and never returned. The children told their mother Raymond had stayed behind to fish.

Police Superintendent Harvey J. Scott ordered his men to search every foot of ground in the park, and river police to drag the park waters again. Raymond's known school chums also were questioned.

Mrs. Alexandra Howe, who has six other children besides Raymond, pinned her hopes on the search.

Bikini Lagoon Radioactivity Is Diminishing

Inner Target Ships Are Still Too "Hot" To Permit Boarding

ABOARD USS APPALACHIAN, Bikini, Monday, July 29 (AP)—Radioactivity in Bikini lagoon materially diminished today, but inner target ships were still too "hot" with deadly rays to permit boarding to assess damage wrought by the underwater atomic bomb explosion.

Safety restrictions remained in effect, and the support fleet was still anchored far away this morning.

The submarine Tuna, raised Saturday, was moored near a small island, instead of being beached. The beached submarine Dendula's forward torpedo room was flooded, new reports said.

Some live animals were taken from two transports, both several thousand yards from the target center.

One instrument used to measure waves set up by the atomic blast was recovered. Comdr. Roger Revelle, oceanographer, said it showed the wave height at a point 8,100 feet from the bomb was between 10 and 15 feet. The wave was from five to eight feet high when it hit the beach three miles away.

Atom-Powered Warships?
The United States Navy's top ship designer said today that warships run by atomic energy might put to sea within five years and that they would be toughened to withstand better the power of the A-bomb.

Adm. Edward L. Cochrane, construction chief of the navy's bureau of ships, told a news conference that with changes in design "we can produce vessels very much more resistant to these bombs."

Cochrane's prediction of an early use of atomic energy on warships was made as he assessed the destruction caused by Thursday's underwater bomb, which sank or damaged one-fifth of the target array of 75 ships.

The Japanese battleship Nagato, with part of her main deck nearly awash, was again listed as perhaps mortally stricken. Plans were made to tow her to sea and sink her with gunfire at some undetermined time.

Latest Tally
The latest tally was Sunk, the battleship Arkansas, the carrier Saratoga, a yard officer and the landing ships from which the bomb was suspended.

Badly damaged, the Nagato. Damaged, destroyer Hughes, transport Fallon, cruiser Salt Lake City and Pensacola, the battleship Pennsylvania, the submarine Dendula.

Probably damaged, the submarine Apogon, Skipjack, Searaven and Pilotfish.

Cochrane told a news conference he was highly gratified at the resistance the ships showed.

HESTER LEADS IN TEXAS; RUNOFF IS ASSURED

DALLAS, Tex., July 28 (AP)—Beauford Hester maintained a strong 349,586 to 222,884 lead over Homer P. Rainey in the Texas governor's race tonight with a runoff between the two men assured in the second Democratic primaries August 24.

The Texas Election Bureau had counted 912,042 of an estimated 1,215,000 votes. The returns were from 235 of 254 counties. Hester was lead in 105 counties, Rainey in 25, Grover Sellers, third man in the race, had 126,619 votes; Jerry Sadler, 82,942 and John Lee Smith, 80,551.

The runoff Democratic primary is tantamount to election.

Heirens To Confess Two Killings After His Arraignment Tomorrow

CHICAGO, July 28 (AP)—William Heirens, 17-year-old University of Chicago student, will be arraigned in criminal court Tuesday charged with the slaying of 6-year-old Suzanne Degnan and the "lip-stick" killing of Frances Brown.

After his plea is entered, he will make confession of both crimes and also to the slaying of Mrs. Josephine Ross.

Malachy Coghlin, one of the five defense counsel, said yesterday that Heirens would place before State's Attorney William J. Tuohy complete details of the three killings, after he is arraigned.

"After three weeks of sufficient investigation," Coghlin said, "the defense attorneys have decided to allow William Heirens to make a confession. There has been sufficient study to warrant bringing Heirens before State's Attorney Tuohy."

"He is willing to make a confession. At any reasonable time after arraignment on Tuesday he will be taken before the states attorney to make the confession."

Asked his position if he is offered a confession in consideration for a life imprisonment recommendation, Tuohy said "I will consider it."

The fatal throat slaying of Mrs. Ross occurred in her apartment on June 3, 1945. Police were without clues. The woman had been killed with a knife, her throat cut from ear to ear, and the gapping wound closed with a strip of adhesive tape.

On December 10 of the same year the police were confronted with the "lip-stick" killing of Miss Brown, an ex-WAVE, who had been shot in the head with a .32 calibre bullet and a 10-inch bread knife forced through her neck, left protruding on both sides.

This time the police had something to work on, a message printed on the wall of the Brown apartment. "For heaven's sake catch me," it read.

May Defends His Position In War Probe

Kentuckian, In Letter To Constituents, Says Conscience Clear

PRESTONSBURG, Ky., July 28 (AP)—Rep. May (D-Ky) has defended his position in the Senate war profits investigation in a letter to constituents, declaring "I have done no wrong, my conscience is clear, and I will be vindicated in the end."

The letter, addressed "Dear Friend," disclosed by one who received a copy in the congressman's home town here today, referred to the Senate War Investigating committee as a "political inquisition."

May, chairman of the House Military committee, charged that the chairman of the investigating committee, Sen. Mead (D-NY) "thinks if he can crucify me he can use that to make himself a great hero and overcome his present difficult political position and ride into the office of governor of New York."

May, who is unopposed for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Seventh Kentucky congressional district at the August 3 primary, asserted that pertinent testimony he has already given before the Senate committee has not been made known.

Referring to the Cumberland Lumber Company, mentioned frequently in the investigation of the midwest munitions combine, May said he "merely acted as agent for the owner x x x and neither asked for nor received any compensation or fee for what I did."

Byrnes Will Ask Hearings For Ex-Foes

Ministers Deadlocked On Treaty Details, Publication Of Drafts

AMERICAN SECRETARY CONFERS WITH ATLEE

Byrnes Seeks To Overcome British Objections To Releasing Texts

PARIS, July 28 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes said tonight he would urge that former enemy states, as well as any other interested nations, be given hearings at the 21-nation peace conference convening here tomorrow.

The American secretary, who arrived here today from Washington, said he felt he was bound by the foreign ministers' decision in Moscow last December which limited the peace conference talks to the 21 Allied belligerent nations.

Byrnes added, however, he was convinced that no interested state should be refused a hearing.

While standing by all the agreements he made with his colleagues in the recent foreign ministers' council sessions in Paris, Byrnes said he reserved the right to complete freedom of action in questions on which no agreement was reached.

Byrnes found the deputy foreign ministers deadlocked both on treaty details and publication of treaty drafts.

Byrnes, Atlee Confer

Byrnes went directly into a conference with British Prime Minister Atlee. While the principal subject under discussion was said to be the Palestine problem, it was understood from an American source that Byrnes also sought to overcome British objections to publication of the texts of the proposed treaties.

One American source said the two ministers had "made some progress" on the question of publication of the treaty texts. He added that a meeting of deputies of the foreign ministers was scheduled for noon (6 a. m. Eastern Standard Time) tomorrow, to continue the discussion of publication of the texts.

The source said also he "thought" the treaties might be released for publication in Wednesday morning newspapers.

The deputies of the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France agreed to send copies of the drafts, including still-disputed alternative clauses, to each of the former belligerents involved, but gave up in despair after eleven-hour conferences concerning publication of the drafts in their own countries.

The deputies argued most of Sunday afternoon on the point. The American and French delegations were understood to be ready to make public any or all parts of each treaty, but the British refused to permit publication of any proposals except those which were accepted by all four powers. The Russians announced they stood for publication of all or of nothing.

The terms of the drafts had been distributed by British sources for probable use at midnight, but publication suddenly was prohibited by order of the deputy foreign ministers' council.

Most of the terms of the treaties already are known, as the result of unofficial leaks, but there has been no authorization for final publication, which now probably will rest with the full peace conference opening tomorrow. Full texts, meanwhile, will go to the former enemy states involved—Finland, Italy, Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary.

Byrnes last week had urged the publication of the treaties in message to his colleagues because the terms for the most part already had been made known to some.

Meeting requirements of the OPA revival law, the president yesterday nominated to $12,000-a-year jobs on the new board:

Roy L. Thompson, economics professor and president of the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans, to serve as chairman.

Radcliffe Praises Bell George H. Mead, board chairman of the Mead Paper and Pulp Company of Dayton, Ohio, and formerly an industry of the War Labor Board.

Daniel W. Bell, former acting director of the budget and undersecretary of the treasury.

Thompson is a Democrat. Mead a Republican and Bell has said he has no politics.

Radcliffe described Bell as "one of the most competent men" Mr. Truman could have named.

The senator said that while he knew Thompson and Mead "only slightly, everything I have heard about them has been highly complimentary."

Created as the final authority on removal or restoration of price ceilings, the board's first big job will be to decide by August 20 whether controls should be re-established on meats, dairy products, grains, cotton seed and soybeans, along with hundreds of items made from these commodities.

If it fails to act by that time, ceilings automatically will be restored. The board also has sole jurisdiction after August 20 on whether controls should be re-invoked on eggs, poultry, petroleum and tobacco and their products.

Under the law, the board is required to hold open hearings to obtain the views of consumers and industry representatives on whether ceilings should be slapped back on meats, dairy products, grains, cotton seed and soybeans.

Radcliffe said that if Mr. Truman's nominations are confirmed by mid-week, "the board probably will need a week or so to get organized and then should be about ready to begin hearings."

Figuring the hearings will require at least a week, or to about August 14, Radcliffe acknowledged that the board is going to be hard-pressed to evaluate all the evidence and make its decision by August 20.

Board To Meet Tuesday BAY ST. LOUIS, Miss., July 28 (AP)—Roy L. Thompson, President Truman's choice for chairman of the new OPA decontrol board, said at his summer home here today that he plans to call an "ad hoc" meeting of the board some time Tuesday in Washington.

Thompson, president of the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans, said he would leave New Orleans for Washington at the earliest possible time tomorrow morning and attend the preliminary meeting of the board which would be held as soon as possible after his arrival.

The government, particularly its War Stabilization board, now has the problem of deciding whether it will revise upward the pattern set in the CIO terms so as to approve the two higher AFL agreements. If it does approve, the CIO's CMU already has served notice it wants to get pay equally as high as the AFL seamen.

Ominous Labor Clouds Forming On Waterfronts

Maritime Union Rivalry And Demands Cause Concern In Capital

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—Mounting union rivalry and demands along the nation's waterfronts.

Immediately ahead is a strike CIO dock workers have voted for next Thursday which they claim may "tie up the whole West Coast" unless an agreement intervenes.

Today, the AFL disclosed that seven of its unions are prepared to band together in a national maritime council. This group would rival the newly-formed CIO Committee for Maritime Union (CMU), the organization involved in the narrowly-averaged maritime crisis of mid-June.

Already both coasts have seen a number of AFL-CIO clashes. One of these occurred at Coos Bay, Ore., where the CMU refused to load a vessel manned by members of the AFL Sailors Union of the Pacific.

Radcliffe said that if Mr. Truman's nominations are confirmed by mid-week, "the board probably will need a week or so to get organized and then should be about ready to begin hearings."

Figuring the hearings will require at least a week, or to about August 14, Radcliffe acknowledged that the board is going to be hard-pressed to evaluate all the evidence and make its decision by August 20.

May Defends His Position In War Probe

Kentuckian, In Letter To Constituents, Says Conscience Clear

PRESTONSBURG, Ky., July 28 (AP)—Rep. May (D-Ky.) has defended his position in the Senate war profits investigation in a letter to constituents, declaring "I have done no wrong, my conscience is clear, and I will be vindicated in the end."

The letter, addressed "Dear Friend," disclosed by one who received a copy in the congressman's home town here today, referred to the Senate War Investigating committee as a "political inquisition."

May, chairman of the House Military committee, charged that the chairman of the investigating committee, Sen. Mead (D-NY) "thinks if he can crucify me he can use that to make himself a great hero and overcome his present difficult political position and ride into the office of governor of New York."

May, who is opposed for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Seventh Kentucky congressional district at the August 3 primary, asserted that pertinent testimony he has already given before the Senate committee has not been made known.

Referring to the Cumberland Lumber Company, mentioned frequently in the investigation of the midwest munitions combine, May said he "merely acted as agent for the owner x x x and neither asked for nor received any compensation or fee for what I did."

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—The Senate War Investigating committee today gave a new air of high importance to an inquiry into defective mortar shells.

Clamping strict secrecy on a new report concerning malfunctioning of some 42-inch chemical explosives, a committee statement advised the public not to pass judgment on any manufacturer. It is going to keep mum pending a thorough-going investigation. It said the picture is confusing.

Because of that, the committee urged that any "condemnation of any individuals or companies, including those associated with the Erie Basin (Erie Basin Metal Products Company of Elgin, Ill.) be withheld." The company is one of a munitions combine whose wartime financial dealings are under committee scrutiny.

Although the committee, in its investigation of the Erie Basin case, was primarily concerned with insuring profits, it views the matter of shell failures and losses of life therefrom as a matter of even greater magnitude than excessive profits," the announcement said.

The committee's statement, pointing up the importance that individual members place on the disclosure in testimony that defective mortar shells killed American troops at the front by premature explosion, was made on the eve of an inquiry into means of plugging "loopholes" on the law forbidding excessive war profits.

HESTER LEADS IN TEXAS; RUNOFF IS ASSURED

DALLAS, Tex., July 28 (AP)—Beauford Hester maintained a strong lead in 223,664 lead over Homer P. Rainey in the Texas governor's race tonight with a runoff between the two men assured in the second Democratic primaries August 24.

The Texas Election Bureau had counted 912,042 of an estimated 1,215,000 votes. The returns were from 235 of 254 counties. Rainey in 26 Grover Sellers, third man in the race, had 126,615 votes; Jerry Sadler, 82,942 and John Lee Smith, 80,351.

The runoff Democratic primary is tantamount to election.

Heirens To Confess Two Killings After His Arraignment Tomorrow

CHICAGO, July 28 (AP)—William Heirens, 17-year-old University of Chicago student, will be arraigned in criminal court Tuesday charged with the slaying of 6-year-old Suzanne Degnan and the "lip-stick" killing of Frances Brown.

After his plea is entered, he will make confession of both crimes and also to the slaying of Mrs. Josephine Ross.

Malachy Coghlin, one of the five defense counsel, said yesterday that Heirens would place before State's Attorney William J. Tuohy complete details of the three killings, after he is arraigned.

After three weeks of sufficient investigation," Coghlin said, "the defense attorneys have decided to allow William Heirens to make a confession. There has been sufficient study to warrant bringing Heirens before State's Attorney Tuohy."

Byrnes Will Ask Hearings For Ex-Foes

Ministers Deadlocked On Treaty Details, Publication Of Drafts

AMERICAN SECRETARY CONFERS WITH ATTLEE

Byrnes Seeks To Overcome British Objections To Releasing Texts

PARIS, July 28 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes said tonight he would urge that former enemy states, as well as any other interested nations, be given hearings at the 21-nation peace conference convening here tomorrow.

The American secretary, who arrived here today from Washington, said he felt he was bound by the foreign ministers' decision in Moscow last December which limited the peace conference talks to the 21 Allied belligerent nations. Byrnes added, however, he was convinced that no interested state should be refused a hearing.

While standing by all the agreements he made with his colleagues in the recent foreign ministers' council sessions in Paris, Byrnes said he reserved the right to complete freedom of action in questions on which no agreement was reached.

Byrnes found the deputy foreign ministers deadlocked both on treaty details and publication of treaty drafts.

Byrnes, Atlee Confer Byrnes went directly into a conference with British Prime Minister Attlee. While the principal subject under discussion was said to be the Palestine problem, it was understood from an American source that Byrnes also sought to overcome British objections to publication of the texts of the proposed treaties.

One American source said the two ministers had "made some progress" on the question of publication of the treaty texts. He added that a meeting of deputies of the foreign ministers was scheduled for tonight (6 a. m. Eastern Standard Time) to continue the discussion of publication.

The source said also he "thought" the treaties might be released for publication in Wednesday morning newspapers.

The deputies of the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France, agreed to send copies of the drafts, including still-disputed alternative clauses, to each of the five former belligerents involved, but gave up in despair after eleven-hour conferences concerning publication of the drafts in their own countries.

The deputies argued most of Sunday afternoon on the point. The American and French delegations were understood to be ready to make public any or all parts of each treaty, but the British refused to permit publication of any proposals except those which were accepted by all four powers. The Russians announced they stood for publication of the whole or of nothing.

Council Bars Publication The terms of the drafts had been distributed by British sources for probable use at midnight, but publication suddenly was prohibited by order of the deputy foreign ministers' council.

Most of the terms of the treaties already are known, as the result of unofficial leaks, but there has been no authorization for final publication, which now probably will rest with the full peace conference opening tomorrow. Full texts, meanwhile, will go to the former enemy states involved—Finland, Italy, Bulgaria, Romania and Hungary.

Byrnes last week had urged the publication of the treaties in messages to his colleagues because the terms for the most part already had been made known to some.

GIANT ROCKETS TO BE BUILT FOR AIR FORCES

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—Several secret plans for constructing missiles designed to reach substantially greater heights than were attained by the Nazi V-2 are to be built for the army air forces to find out more what it is like in the upper atmosphere, officials disclosed today.

Current plans call for contracts with one or more aircraft manufacturers to construct 100 rockets capable of reaching altitudes ranging upward from less than 20 miles to more than 130 miles. The total cost is estimated at approximately $2,000,000 and some are expected to be ready for firing by the fall of next year.

Elements And Not People Do Most Damage To Washington's Statuary

By ARTHUR EDSON WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—Relax, citizens. No one has (a) chipped the point off the Washington monument, (b) smeared Lincoln with lipstick, or (c) painted a beard on Jefferson.

There was considerable worry heretofore when the news sifted in from the Chicago convention of the Monument Builders of America, Inc. The monument builders said the Statue of Liberty was "littered and defaced" with refuse and lipstick drawings. In fact, they said, the old girl is a "national disgrace."

Since this town has more statues than a senator has adjectives, your reporter hunted up Irving C. Root to see how the local statuary is making out.

As superintendent of the national capital parks, Root looks after 75 statues, worth millions of dollars, for us taxpayers.

TERMINAL PAY ACCORD MAY BE REACHED TODAY

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—A joint committee of Senators and House members will attempt to reach a final agreement tomorrow on whether discharged GI's get their pay for accumulated leave in cash or five-year bonds.

Both houses have approved making the payments, and the only question is the method. The house voted for cash. The Senate approved the bond plan at the insistence of treasury and budget officials, who said it would prevent inflation if the payments were postponed until five years after each veteran's discharge.

Although President Truman is reported to favor the bond payoff, the plan evoked some grumbling from the House conferees. They have been eligible for paid terminal leave all along, got theirs in cash.

Some of the lawmakers fear repercussions at the polls this fall if they put the GI payments on the I. O. U. basis.

Clues In Triple Slaying Sought

DANVILLE, Va., July 28 (AP)—Pittsylvania County Commonwealth's Attorney Joseph Whitehead, Jr., said today police still were without clues in their investigation into a triple shooting which took the lives of a 25-year-old housewife, her husband and his stepfather near Danville.

Whitehead said after the discovery of the bodies yesterday he believed "robbery was the motive of the triple slaying," and he stated today "I have no reason to change my belief."

The badly-decomposed bodies of John Kize, 35-year-old bus driver; Beatrice Kize, his wife, and George Johnson, 70, his stepfather, were discovered in the trio's small farmhouse by Mrs. J. C. Hankins, an aunt of the slain woman.

Mrs. Hankins, whom blonde Mrs. Kize had visited Wednesday for a dress fitting, went to the Kize home with two neighbors to take the garment and found the bodies of the two men lying on the floor of the living room of the one-story frame house. Mrs. Kize was discovered sprawled on the bedroom floor. A .38-caliber revolver was found lying on Kize's chest.

Dr. H. H. Hammer, Pittsylvania county coroner said from the location of the wounds and position of the bodies he believed it would have been impossible for either of the men or woman to have shot the others.

SYNTHETIC RUBBER CONTROLS RESTORED

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—The grain alcohol shortage forced the government to restore today the controls over synthetic rubber which were removed just after VJ-day.

A limitation imposed by the Civilian Production Administration prohibits tire and other manufacturers from accepting any general-purpose synthetic—the so-called "GR-S"—without prior authorization.

After August 1 manufacturers may not keep on hand more than a 30-day supply of "GR-S," or a practicable minimum working inventory, whichever is less.

Famous Authority On Problems Of Love And Marriage

The question of whether a woman should marry a man much younger than herself—one, incidentally, that pops up frequently in mail to this column—is a good deal like the old gag: "How long is a piece of string?"

That is the only possible answer to either question would be: "That depends." And it depends upon a number of things.

It depends, so far as the older woman-young husband combination is concerned, far more upon the mental and emotional ages of the two than it does upon the number of years they've each lived. It depends, for another thing, upon the breadth of their respective experiences—or, to put it another way, upon the degree of sophistication each has acquired. And it depends, as it does with any two people who are contemplating marriage, whatever their ages, upon how congenial their interests are; how alike their thinking is on the big questions that will matter to them as they go along in life.

Such things as these, in all their various aspects, are complicated enough for adults to consider and decide. But it is even more difficult for very young people to understand their importance and be willing to give them the thoughtful consideration they deserve. In the whole-souled exuberance of first love, it is characteristic of youth to brush off impatiently any suggestion of possible incompatibilities between itself and its loved one, and to scoff at any idea that the contemplated marriage might conceivably fall a long way this side of Paradise.

All this, of course, is the reason why the girl who writes the following letter feels that she has a grievance against her parents and the parents of the boys she wants to marry, because of their opposition to the project.

Here is what she says:

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"I am a young girl of 20, in love with a young man of 16. But he is more mature than the average fellow of that age. He no longer goes to school.

"We love each other very much, and plan to marry soon, but our parents are very much annoyed with the idea and his parents forbid it because of the difference in our ages. His parents think he's just being a 'romantic fool' to love a woman 4½ years his senior.

"So that is my problem! Should we run away and marry, or wait until he's 18, or break up now and change our whole future, which will break our hearts?"

"A HEARTBROKEN GIRL"

As I've just finished saying there are many things that should be carefully considered when an older woman thinks of marrying a younger man. But in your case, "Heartbroken Girl," where the "younger man" is only 16 years old, there are just about twice as many. What they boil down to is just this: No boy of 16 is ready to take on the responsibilities of a wife and a home of his own. And it is extremely unlikely, moreover, that any 16-year old, however mature he may be for his age, has the wisdom of the judgment to make so vital a decision as the choice of a wife.

I won't tell you to do anything as dramatic as "break up now," as you put it. And I doubt if you'd do it, even if I told you to.

But I do urge that you put out of your minds anything so foolish as running away and getting married, and instead, adopt the attitude that you'll wait a year or two at least before coming to any definite decision.

The ceremony was solemnized in the First Methodist Episcopal church, Romney, with the Rev. E. S. Wilson officiating. Wreaths of rhododendron encircled the altar, which was decorated with palms and ferns and decorated with bouquets of white gladioli and candelabra of tall white tapers.

Charles G. Skinner, Charlestown, W. Va., was the vocalist and sang, "Because." He was accompanied at the organ by Miss Joann Law who played three selections and the traditional wedding marches.

Miss Mary Ann Heinrich, this city, was the maid of honor and bride's only attendant. Leo Luckman, Romney, served as Mr. Savill's best man and the ushers were Glenn Shingleton, William Michael, Steven Welton and John Rannells, brother of the bride.

Disagree Over Need For More A-Bomb Tests

But Heads Of Evaluation Groups Praise Co-operation Shown

By DON WHITEHEAD
AROUND USS APPALACHIAN, Monday, July 29 (AP)—Heads of the joint chiefs of staff evaluation board and of President Truman's civilian evaluation commission disagreed today on the wisdom and necessity for further atomic bomb experiments.

Sen. Hatch (D-NM), chairman of the presidential commission, said at a news conference that he personally saw no reason for future atomic tests, with the possible exception of the proposed deep-water blast.

Both said that neither board has reached any conclusion, as a group, about going forward with the proposed deep water explosion.

Both groups will forward their preliminary reports on Thursday's underwater explosion to Washington tomorrow, and then start their return trip to the United States.

They declined to discuss the reports before their release by the president and by the joint chiefs of staff, but both Hatch and Compton said there would be no conclusions or recommendations. These may be embodied in final reports to be made several weeks hence, after all information has been gathered and studied, they explained.

Compton termed the tests "a remarkable achievement in co-operation" between the armed forces and scientists.

Spirit Is Praised
"To keep our military organization going," he said, "it is advantageous to have practice maneuvers such as we have witnessed. I think some valuable features came out of the tests."

"Never before have there been such test maneuvers with so many different groups co-operating so closely. The spirit was fine, and I hope this same spirit will pervade the relations of the army, navy, air force and scientists in the future."

Hatch observed that he had "never seen anything better" than the co-operation between military and civilian groups in the Bikini tests.

The Truman board, he said, was not certain whether it should reach definite conclusions and recommendations, and this point was to be cleared up in Washington.

House Authorizes Federal Grants For Hospitals

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—The House passed Friday by a 376-28 standing vote legislation to authorize $375,000,000 of federal grants to states for building and improving hospitals in the next five years.

The Senate passed a similar measure last December. But because of a difference in method of allocation, the two chambers will have to reach an agreement before the legislation can go to the White House.

The Senate version provides that federal grants shall be made on a 50-50 matching basis. The House would require states to put up two-thirds of any grant, with the federal share being only one-third.

State Fireman Plan Memorial Building

FREDERICK, Md., July 28 (AP)—Proposed construction of a fireman's memorial building at College Park to serve as permanent headquarters for the Maryland State Firemen's Association was discussed today by representatives of 250 volunteer fire companies.

W. Bartis Storm, Frederick president of the association, presided at the meeting which also took up the questions of raising membership dues and contacting insurance companies to work out a benefit plan for disabled and retired firemen.

The memorial building will house a museum and reference library as well as a permanent headquarters for the organization. Henry E. Marschall, Takoma Park, is chairman of the planning committee, which includes C. William Eston, Hagerstown; V. A. Simmell, Cottage City; and J. Millard Tawes, Crisfield.

Cresaptown Man Held After Disturbance

Charles B. Judy, Cresaptown, who was arrested by state police following a disturbance in Cresaptown late Saturday night, is being held in the city jail for a hearing tomorrow on a charge of disorderly conduct before Magistrate Roy S. Bowman, Cresaptown.

He was arrested by Trooper William McElfish, who said Judy suffered a severe cut on the left arm when he broke a glass door during a fight in a Cresaptown beer parlor. The trooper said several stitches were required to close the severe laceration.

Lynn Kessell, Burlington, W. Va., is being "held for investigation" in the city jail. He was arrested Saturday at 4:30 p. m. by Sgt. Raymond Johnston.

Li. Raymond Beane Is Discharged From Navy

Lt. Raymond A. Beane, U. S. N. R., son of William H. Beane, Windsor hotel, was recently retired from active duty in the navy chaplain corps after three years service.

A graduate of LaSalle high school in 1929, Father Beane was attached to the faculty of St. Charles, Loudonville, N. Y., before going into naval service in June, 1943.

Father Beane will visit his father here soon. Before the expiration of a month's vacation he will be assigned to his next ministerial post.

Two Men Die In Plane Crash At Charleston

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 28 (AP)—Two men were killed and a third injured tonight when their plane crashed into a farmhouse at a privately-owned airport near here.

E. R. Williamson, 24, Charleston, was dead upon arrival at Dunn hospital at South Charleston, and Gordon A. Zeller, 44, also of Charleston, formerly of West Union, died a few hours later.

The third passenger, Russell K. Murrell, 29, Charleston, suffered a possible fracture of the left arm and multiple lacerations.

TELLS OF SLAYINGS—

Lloyd Harrison, left, sits in the car from which four negroes were removed near Monroe, Ga., by a mob of 20 armed men and shot to death. He told officials the car was stopped while he was driving along a country road with Roger Malcolm, George Dorsey and his wives. At right, Coroner W. T. Brown holds a piece of rope used by the mob to tie the hands of the men.

"Collapsible" Film Vehicle Mishaps Producing Firms Result In Injury Face Federal Probe To Four Persons

HOLLYWOOD, July 28 (AP)—Hollywood was in a billion-dollar dither today as the long anticipated government crack down on "collapsible" movie producing companies seeking income tax relief was revealed in Washington.

Famous stars, directors and producers who might be subject to the federal probe remained silent while their attorneys studied disclosure that the government is seeking to plug tax leaks running into "many millions."

At Washington internal revenue officials said they expected court battles which eventually would reach the Supreme Court.

As viewed here, the inquiry was aimed at so-called individuals and combinations who set up corporations, produced a single picture reaped rich dividends and lower taxes under the corporate tax laws, and then liquidated.

Some stars, it was said, contributed their "personal appeal," or box-office value, in lieu of actual capital assets in the companies.

Among those who have formed companies are Gary Cooper, Betty Davis, John Wayne, Ginger Rogers, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Bing Crosby, Pat O'Brien, Constance Bennett, Hedy Lamarr, John Garfield, and Joan Fontaine, as well as some writers and directors. Whether they are of the one-picture variety, or on a permanent basis, remains to be seen.

Top directors in the field include Sam Wood, Frank Borzage, Frank Capra, Dudley Nichols, Fritz Lang and Leo McCarey.

Global Officials Visit Municipal Airport To Plan Service

Two officials of the Globair, Inc., airline, visited the Cumberland Municipal Airport at Wiley Ford, W. Va., as a part of their tour of several West Virginia ports, made in connection with their plan for air travel service linking a number of West Virginia and nearby cities.

J. Patrick Beacom, president of Globair, who lives in Huntington, arrived in his own twin-engine Cessna cabin plane, and H. C. Simms, vice president, who lives in Dayton, Ohio, was flown in by John Ackerman, Globair pilot, formerly associated with John Chapman, manager of the local port.

Chapman said Beacom and Simms are interested in opening an air line for Cumberland, Clarkburg and Morgantown, but added that Globair is a small firm and the service would start on a small scale, if inaugurated.

Beacom told Chapman the company hopes to begin such a flight service about August 9, and is seeking a certificate from the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

Church Condemns DEATHS Georgia Slayings

MONROE, Ga., July 28 (AP)—A Monroe church congregation called today on local and Walton county authorities to co-operate with state officials in running down members of the armed band which lynched four negroes near here July 25.

The First Methodist church unanimously adopted a resolution to this effect at its morning church service. Bob Sams, chairman of the resolution committee, said he would ask all other churches in Monroe to adopt similar resolutions.

The resolution, which also condemned "the outrages against humanity," came on the heels of a declaration by Maj. William E. Spence, head of the Georgia State Police, that he was not getting co-operation in tracking down the lynching mob.

Spence said the "good people" in Walton county "won't talk about the mass murder" even though some of them "know who members of the gang were."

The four negroes—Roger and Dorothy Malcolm and George and Mae Dorsey—were seized from the car of Loy Harrison, a prosperous white farmer, lined up against and killed by three volleys of fire from pistols and shotguns. Roger Malcolm was under $600 bond on a charge of stabbing his white employer.

Probe Of Baltimore Police Department Gets Under Way Today

BALTIMORE, July 28 (AP)—Formal investigation of the Baltimore Police Department and the July 4 Century Athletic Club robbery will get under way tomorrow with a special staff of six prosecutors to present information to the grand jury, State's Attorney J. Bernard Wells announced.

Wells appointed a staff of five lawyers last night as investigators. He said he had requested the supreme bench "to draft a representative member of the bar" to complete the staff.

Four of the five appointees are former members of the army counter-intelligence corps and the other, former coast guard officer, did legal work for that service.

Thomas N. Biddison, chairman of the state department of correction, will resign his post to become special assistant to the state's attorney.

The five investigators are: John J. Castin, 34, Texas (Md.); John M. Maguire, 32, Charles E. Orth, Jr., 32, and William B. Stansbury, Jr., 35, Baltimore, all army intelligence corps veterans; and I. Franklin Gerber, Jr., 37, Baltimore, who served with the coast guard in an investigative and legal capacity.

through six feet of gravel and mud in the cave, and crawls through a 30-foot, low room ending in a vertical shaft, which he figured was 70 feet deep and thinks connects with a 70 foot waterfall, which he explained is unexplored further because it is too deep. In the opposite direction the channel, he said, also "extends northward as a 100-foot crevice, about 10 to 20 feet wide, sloping 60 degrees downward and the water actually comes through the floor from a hole at least 70 feet deep and 4 feet in diameter, which is too small to go in, and so controls the flow of water, which can never be above its established limit."

The explorers think that the caverns are a series of big chambers across the Twigg farm valley, and that the collapse of the sink hole and forming of the pond has blocked channels and flooded the valley underground. The water comes to the surface in a series of springs above the pond and flows into the pond, and out of it underground where it feeds into the cave.

This it was explained, indicates that the stream, coming from the pond on the surface, 1,457 feet away, means that the pond's only outlet is underground. It is believed that the water at the pond seeps through a channel and goes down very rapidly to a common water level, which has restrictions, called syphons, with the roof of the channel forming a funnel, controlling the flow of water through the cave. If the volume is greater than the syphon allows, then the water backs up and is forced into a higher level, where it normally flows.

To Use Vegetable Dye From their calculations, Davies said, although they do not know where the water comes out of the ground, they are reasonably sure it is either Frog Hollow or Colliers Cove. When they return to Twigg's Cove in the fall, the group plans to use a vegetable dye in the pond water and watch the water level, which it appears. It is calculated it will take to travel 15,000 feet and will take two and one half hours. The water will clear again in five or six hours, he said.

Describing the caves, Davies explained that one descends a 25-foot crevice to a ledge, then at a 45 degree slope, for 55 more feet, where there are hundreds of "incidental rooms" before entering the "room" which is 30 feet high and 20 by 50 feet. In the reverse direction, going northwards, one climbs over a series of rock falls to the "chimneys" or three big shafts, which end the up-level passage, which is 95 feet long, 10 feet wide and 30 to 35 feet high.

Going further underground, a very narrow crevice corridor drops rapidly for 40 feet, before coming to a straight passage, 40 feet long, and 8 to 10 feet wide, which then narrows to a three foot high, curving passage which runs north, ending in a "room" having three "pot holes" caused by the water. The deepest is 20 feet, while the others vary from 8 to 10 feet.

At this point the main cave reverses direction entirely and starts southward at a low passage level for 50 feet, before it drops rapidly 85 feet at 45 degrees, which leads to the water level. There one wades in water for about 150 feet, before coming to a falls. Davies explained that the group sounded the falls with 36 feet of string, and calculated by dropping stones and timing them that there is at least a 70 foot drop and probably more.

WAYNESBURG, Pa., July 28 (AP)—The bet is on again that it will rain in Waynesburg July 29. At midnight, Rain Prophet John Dalley will lead the faithful to the courthouse steps. If rain comes during the next 24 hours—he is a modest drip or a lusty cloudburst—Dalley will dash to the courthouse tower and toll the bell 25 times.

Disagree Over Need For More A-Bomb Tests

But Heads Of Evaluation Groups Praise Co-operation Shown

By DON WHITEHEAD
ABOARD USS APPALACHIAN, Monday, July 28 (AP)—Heads of the joint chiefs of staff evaluation board and of President Truman's civilian evaluation commission, disagreed today on the wisdom and necessity for further atomic bomb experiments.

Sen. Hatch (D-NM), chairman of the presidential commission, said at a news conference that he personally saw no reason for future atomic tests, with the possible exception of the proposed deep-sea blast.

Dr. Karl T. Compton, noted physicist who heads the military's evaluation board, said a few minutes earlier that he thought such "practice maneuvers" were invaluable to "keep our military organization going."

No Conclusions Reached
Both said that neither board had reached any conclusion, as a group, about going forward with the proposed deep water explosion.

Both groups will forward their preliminary reports on Thursday's underwater explosion to Washington tomorrow, and then start their return trip to the United States.

They declined to discuss the reports before their release by the president and by the joint chiefs of staff, but both Hatch and Compton said there would be no conclusions nor recommendations. These may be embodied in final reports to be made several weeks hence, after all information has been gathered and studied, they explained.

Compton termed the tests "a remarkable achievement in co-operation between the armed forces and scientists."

Spirit Is Praised
"To keep our military organization going," he said, "it is advantageous to have practice maneuvers such as we have witnessed. I think some valuable features came out of the tests."

"Never before have there been such test maneuvers with so many different groups co-operating so closely. The spirit was fine, and I hope this same spirit will pervade the relations of the army, navy, air force and scientists in the future."

Hatch observed that he had "never seen anything better" than the co-operation between military and civilian groups in the tests.

The Truman board, he said, was not certain whether it should reach definite conclusions and recommendations, and this point was to be cleared up in Washington.

House Authorizes Federal Grants For Hospitals

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—The House passed Friday by a 136 to 28 standing vote legislation to authorize $375,000,000 of federal grants to states for building and improving hospitals in the next five years.

The Senate passed a similar measure last December. But because of a difference in method of allocation, the two chambers will have to reach an agreement before the legislation can go to the White House.

The Senate version provides that federal grants shall be made on a 50-50 matching basis. The House bill would require states to put up at least one-third of the cost, with the federal share being only one-third.

Church Condemns Georgia Slayings

MONROE, Ga., July 28 (AP)—A Monroe church congregation called today on local and Walton county authorities to co-operate with state officials in running down members of the armed band which lynched four negroes near here July 25.

The First Methodist church unanimously adopted a resolution to this effect at its morning church service. Bob Sams, chairman of the resolution committee, said he would ask all other churches in Monroe to adopt similar resolutions.

The resolution, which also condemned "the outrage against humanity," came on the heels of a declaration by Maj. William E. Spence, head of the Georgia State Police, that he was not getting co-operation in tracking down the lynching mob.

Spence said the "good people" in Walton county "won't talk about the murders" even though some of them "know who members of the gang were."

The four negroes—Roger and Dorothy Malcolm and George and Dorsey—were seized from the car of L. Loy Harrison, a prosperous white farmer, lined up abreast and killed by three volleys of fire from pistols and shotguns. Roger Malcolm was under $600 bond on a charge of stabbing his white employer.

Approximately 100 Townsendites from Maryland and West Virginia heard Mrs. J. A. Ford, Washington legislative bureau representative, yesterday afternoon in Queen City ballroom at the monthly mass meeting.

Homer Stierstorfer, of 331 Dorn avenue, was fined $5.75 in trial magistrates' court Saturday for driving without a license on Baltimore street. He entered a plea of guilty after being arrested by State Trooper Harry Holsinger and City officers J. W. Snyder and J. H. Stitzer.

Waste-paper collections are scheduled today for LaVale, Bowman's addition, Potomac Park, Bowling Green, along McCullen highway to Rowlands, Bedford road to Naves Crossroads, the State Line, and Baltimore Pike to Miller's service station. Stefanko is a veteran of service in the Pacific theater and participated in several major actions.

Eugene L. Burkhold, Hyndman, Pa., was fined $20 and costs by Magistrate James P. Kenny, Frostburg, on a charge of failure to stop after an accident and of reckless driving. State Trooper G. M. R. trock said the man gave himself up and admitted driving the car which struck a vehicle operated by Enoch P. Price, of Frostburg on Route 40, a week ago.

Dr. Donald T. Grove, city physician, has been appointed examiner of school bus drivers by the board of education. School Superintendent Charles L. Kopp announced.

Jack Dempsey Has $50 Wager Riding On Dry July 29 In Waynesburg

WAYNESBURG, Pa., July 28 (AP)—The bet is on again that it will rain in Waynesburg July 29. At midnight, Rain Prophet John Dalley will lead the faithful to the courthouse steps. If rain comes during the next 24 hours—he is a modest drizzle or a lusty cloudburst—Dalley will dash to the courthouse tower and ring the bell.

Tradition says it has failed to rain here on July 29 only three times in 69 years. Dalley, a lawyer, annually bets a sports figure that it will rain.

This year, ex-Heavyweight Champion Jack Dempsey has $50 riding on the July 29 bet. But no matter who wins the $50 will go to a local swimming pool fund.

Amateur Takes Title at Tam O'Shanter

CHICAGO, July 28 (AP)—George Hamer, Columbus, Ga., current national collegiate champion from the University of Georgia, today topped a two-day amateur tournament with a 72-hole total of 291.

The tall, slender Hamer finished only one stroke ahead of another national collegiate champion, Earl Stewart of Dallas, Tex., whose closing 75 gave him 292. Stewart, who won the collegiate crown in 1941 representing Louisiana State, was the 54-hole leader with 216.

Favored Frank Stranahan, who recently won the Kansas City Invitational was third with 293, trailing the final 18 in four-under-par 68.

Then came the Degnan kidnapping. The night of January 7 last, the golden-haired daughter of a Chicago OPA executive was missing from her room and a ransom note left. Within days after her disappearance parts of her body were found in sewers in her neighborhood. More than 3,000 persons were questioned by police and released.

Probe Of Baltimore Police Department Gets Under Way Today

BALTIMORE, July 28 (AP)—Formal investigation of the Baltimore Police Department and the July 4 Century Athletic Club robbery will get under way tomorrow with a special staff of six prosecutors to present information to the grand jury. State's Attorney J. Bernard Wells announced.

Wells appointed a staff of five lawyers last night as investigators. He said he had requested the supreme bench "to draft a representative member of the bar" to complete the staff.

Four of the five appointees are former members of the county counter-intelligence corps and the other, a former coast guard officer, did legal work for that service.

Thomas N. Biddison, chairman of the state department of correction, will resign his post to become special assistant to the state's attorney.

Five investigators are: John J. Castin, 34, Texas (Md.); John M. Maguire, 32, Charles E. Orth, Jr., 32 and William B. Stansbury, Jr., 35, Baltimore, all army intelligence corps veterans; and I. Franklin Gerber, Jr., 37, Baltimore, who served with the coast guard in an investigative and legal capacity.

through six feet of gravel and mud in the cave cave, and crawled through a 30-foot, low room ending in a verti shaft, which he figured was 70 feet deep and thinks connects with a 70 foot waterfall, which he explained is unexplained further because it is too deep. In the opposite direction the channel, he said, also "extends northward as a 100-foot crevice, about 10 to 20 feet wide, sloping 60 degrees downward and the water actually comes through the floor from a hole at least 70 feet deep and a feet in diameter, which is too small to go further, and so controls the flow of water, which can never be above its established limit."

The explorers think that the caverns are a series of big chambers across the Twigg farm valley, and that the collapse of the sink hole and forming of the pond has blocked channels and flooded the valley underground. The water comes to the surface in a series of springs above the pond and flow into the pond, and out of it underground where it feeds into the cave.

This it was explained, indicates that the stream, coming from the pond on the surface, 1,457 feet away, means that the pond's only outlet is underground. It is believed that at the pond the water enters a channel and goes down very rapidly to a common water level, which has restrictions, called siphons, with the roof of the channel forming a funnel, controlling the flow of water through the cave. If the volume is greater than the siphon allows, then the water backs up and is forced into a higher level, where it normally flows.

To Use Vegetable Dye

From their calculations, Davies said, although they do not know where the water comes out of the ground, they are reasonably sure it is either Frog Hollow or Colliers run. When they return to Twigg's Cove in the fall, the group plans to use a vegetable dye

All Is Not Drab In Wartime

All is not drab in wartime. The Senate War Investigating Committee has given the country just a slight glimpse of the social side of war. The pictures of Representative May in the arms of one of the Garsson girls, and of Army officers making merry at wedding parties are examples.

The pictures were followed by testimony that top-ranking Army Ordnance officers got special traveling orders to go to New York when the Garssons threw their party in the swank Hotel Pierre. And the hotel bills of Rep. May and some of the officers were paid by the Garssons. The taxpayers at least footed the bills for some traveling to the Garsson party. It hasn't been disclosed whether or not all or part of the party bills might have been charged to business expense thus becoming a part of the cost of the war. But there isn't any doubt that a lot of partying of various and assorted kinds was so charged.

Not being a coast city, Cumberland had little opportunity to see at first-hand lavish ceremonies thrown in connection with ship launchings, "E" awards and the like. Much of it undoubtedly was legitimate, although wasteful. Army and Navy officers often put pressure on some firms to make big spectacles out of the ceremonies. High brass came from Washington in great quantities. Army and Navy officers and their ladies had to be entertained while at the various rites. There were gifts for sponsors and guests, breakfasts, cocktail parties, receptions and other kinds of entertaining. How much of this social fanfare went into business expenses, or in other words cost of armament, nobody knows. Undoubtedly a lot of it did.

The time lost by officers who traveled around the country for these affairs was enormous. Obviously they were not traveling at their own expense. Often they were flown in Army and Navy planes. A lot of enlisted men were assigned to the non-fighting jobs of piloting and driving high brass. Right while appeals were being made to buy more and more War Bonds there is no telling how many of these bonds accomplished nothing more than helping pay for the social side of war.

It finally got so that lavish "E" award ceremonies became so expensive and caused such enormous losses in production time that they finally were toned down. The same with ship launchings.

A lot of Army and Navy officers loved travel, good food and drink and the social activities connected with them. That is certain. Some of it probably was necessary; a lot of it was pure waste. This condition was encouraged by the commissioning of thousands of officers who fought the war at desks and cocktail parties. If the inside story of some of those commissions ever is told it probably will make steaming reading.

But the War Investigating Committee has pulled back the curtain only enough for one tiny peek. We would like to see the whole sorry mess exposed so that it may be averted in some future crisis. And so that officers who were acting as purchasing agents will learn the first fundamental of that job—don't accept favors from and put yourself under obligations to firms with which you do business.

Will uranium, now down to $5.75 a pound, eventually cost less than beefsteak?

In Defense of Property Owners

The ownership of property, and particularly of homes, has long been recognized as one of the stabilizing factors of a free society. In recent years, mounting government costs and the trend toward socialization have made such ownership increasingly hazardous and uncertain. That, says the prospectus of the National Home and Property Owners Foundation, which has been organized in 27 states, "is a move toward totalitarian government and the loss of every human right."

To combat that trend, this foundation seeks "to assist, protect, extend and enhance the right of ownership as a requisite to genuine citizenship responsibility . . . by providing the strength of organization to home and property owners; by recommendation on policy and practice in the field of real property economics; by expanding existing educational facilities for technical, professional and public instruction in the problems of property ownership; by careful investigation and fact finding in policy, theory and practices that affect real property."

Individual property owners always have been vulnerable to the demands of organized pressure groups. It is highly significant, therefore, that the millions who have a tangible stake in America are beginning to assert themselves and to make their influence felt through cooperation and collective action.

It is significant that the word "jerk" is to be included in the next dictionary.

Big Government vs. Big Business

It hardly is news any more to say that more and more American citizens are working directly for the government. But figures just released help to emphasize how pronounced this trend is and how far it has already gone.

They show that one out of six dollars paid out in wages and salaries in this country at the present time are being paid by federal, state and local governments.

Americans are accustomed to thinking of firms like General Motors as industrial giants, and so they are. But their payrolls are dwarfed by the tremendous business which government has become today. In 1940, the last full peacetime year, the wages and salaries paid by General Motors totaled half a billion dollars. In 1945, reflecting the heavy wartime activities of the first half of the year, they totaled more than a billion. Today, government payrolls total 18 billion dollars annually—36 times General Motors' peacetime level.

The influence that government on such a scale exerts on the national economy, simply by virtue of its size, is enormous. In a year of peak employment the government is paying one dollar in wages for every six that industry pays. In a depression year the government's proportion of total wage and salary payments is destined to be far larger. Government, paid for out of the nation's earnings, is expanding rapidly and steadily and, if this expansion continues, it will soon become an intolerable burden.

HYPNOSIS IN MENTAL CONFLICTS

Throughout the years hypnosis has been misunderstood. It has been compared to magic and voodooism and to some the word suggests a man with large, piercing eyes which are capable of casting a spell over the victim, making him succumb to his will. Frequently such concepts can be blamed on hair-raising stories in which the villain is endowed with evil powers. In spite of prejudice, the procedure has proved valuable, especially to the psychiatrist who employs the phenomenon to delve into hidden conflicts buried deep in the subconscious.

In many types of neuroses, the origin can be traced to an unpleasant experience which has disturbed the sufferer emotionally. Symptoms simulating disease may develop with complaints indistinguishable from actual heart trouble, stomach ulcers, visual disorders, etc. Others encounter marked anxiety and fear.

Too often the original episode dates back many years and has long been forgotten yet remains as an unrecognized source of irritation. Under hypnosis the subject is asked to recall bygone events and, when the floodgates are opened, past or recent painful memories will be relived. The physician explains the mechanism of the effect of the disturbing situation and assures the patient that he can face the problem realistically and thus find the solution.

No one really knows just what hypnosis is. During the trance the individual is in a somnambulistic state—that is, he is somewhat drowsy but capable of talking and moving about in response to suggestion. Because of the deep relaxation the therapist can probe concealed thoughts and worries and make suggestions to be followed on awakening. It should be understood that the patient will not do anything diametrically opposed to his moral and ethical standards; nor will he perform acts which have never been learned such as playing a piano or speaking an unfamiliar language. A novelist made Trilby sing under Svengali's hypnosis but the physician is not a sorcerer or wizard.

Hypnosis is not particularly dangerous, although it should not be resorted to repeatedly lest the personality be disturbed. Another false belief is that the hypnotized person may never come out of the state. As a matter of fact, even if not awakened, consciousness would return spontaneously after several hours.

Whether an individual can be hypnotized depends upon his susceptibility and how well he cooperates. The hypnotist does not have any extraordinary power but a knowledge of the procedure plus confidence are needed. The intelligent subject is more amenable than one who is stupid. Under this treatment, strange reactions are produced. The subject can be told that he feels no pain and will not wince when stuck with a pin. The process may be so complete that operations, including childbirth, have been performed.

The plan was successful with certain service men who were shocked through terrifying or horrible war experiences. Some exhibited a temporary loss of memory or were unable to walk, talk or hear. Some several sessions were necessary during which time they discussed their painful recollections and felt relieved.

UNEQUAL EARS

Mrs. R. R. writes: My 6 month old infant likes to eat and sleep while resting on his right side. Could this be responsible for the fact that his right ear is larger than the left?

REPLY

This depends on how much larger it is, as many mothers exaggerate unimportant abnormalities. Slight inequalities are not unusual. If the ear is bent outward, it may look larger. In such cases strapping may help to fit it closer to the head.

"IT SAYS HERE"

By BOB HOPE

The Navy has announced that the ocean floor is rising off the Golden Gate. Naturally, the local citizens are aroused. And who can blame them? . . . Can you imagine having another hill to climb in San Francisco?

I wouldn't get excited if I were they. It's not really the ocean floor that's rising. After years of people's sliding down those hills into the bay . . . There was bound to be a pile-up!

The U. S. S. Sumner was first to discover the land mass, and it came quite a bit of excitement aboard ship. The sailors all ran up and asked the captain for shore leave.

People from all over California are rushing down to the shore to see the spectacle, and I understand real estate men are selling it for ten thousand an acre. So, buy fast!

The Navy says it was caused by a possible subterranean volcano, but I know the real cause of the phenomenon . . . I told Sydney Greenstreet not to dive off that ocean park pier!

Seriously, though, this upheaval of the ocean floor is going to necessitate a change in seaman's tactics. When a sailor takes his girl for a moonlight sail, he'll have to be mighty careful . . . Now she can walk home.

Dreams of Peace Are Tinged With Spectre of Another War; Delayed Peace Conference Due to Carefully Planned Tactics of Russia.

By DREW PEARSON

En Route To Paris, July 28.—Tomorrow in the Palace of Luxembourg begins the conference on which so many mothers set their hearts, for which so many mothers' sons gave their lives—the conference to win the peace.

Some 13,000,000 men in the American armed forces alone fought four long years—with the hope that it might be the last time human beings would have to go through the terrible ordeal of war.

Today in Paris comes the climax of their dreams, and the ready disillusionment has begun to set in. Already the dreams are tinged with nightmare—the spectre of another war.

Here are some of the distressing facts this conference has to face in trying to chart the peace of the world:

1. Historians criticized Woodrow Wilson because he was slow in negotiating peace. But he got started two months after the armistice, a total of six months later, a total of eight months after the war. In contrast, it is now almost one year after the armistice with Japan and fifteen months after the armistice with Germany, yet the final peace conference is only getting started.

2. The longer peace is delayed, the more the Allies fall out the more the other nations forget their gratitude. So the longer the delay, the harder it is to negotiate a permanent peace.

3. Russia has deliberately endeavored to postpone the peace. This conference could have been held long ago if the Soviet had not said No.

Moscow's delay tactics were by no means accidental. They were carefully planned, and with three motives behind them:

A. The longer peace was delayed the more time Russia got to nail down its hold on the Balkan satellites—Hungary, Austria, Anti-Russian factions had to be stamped out; pro-Russian factions trained to carry on. This could not be done overnight.

B. The more uncertainty and unrest occurred in the non-Soviet-occupied countries—France, Belgium, the Netherlands—the greater the likely growth of Communism. Unrest breeds Communism, and the spread of Communism is one great aim of Moscow.

C. Finally, Moscow did not want the Red Armies converging back to Russia. There wasn't food to feed them, and their quick return risked economic, even political, overs. So they were left to live off foreign countries; and as long as no peace treaty was signed, armies of occupation were justified.

Thus, ever since V-J Day, Russia has been the greatest obstacle to early peace.

In this peace conference, however, not everything is black or white. There is some gray shading in between.

And in real fact, American diplomacy during the early stages of this greatest of all diplomatic endeavors, was just as guilty of sabotaging the peace as the Russians—perhaps more so. I say more so, because we pride ourselves on being more advanced, more alert, more idealistic.

Yet actually, our diplomats were just as woefully unprepared for peace as the Army and Navy were for war at Pearl Harbor. When it should have been ready for the most important peace offensive in the history of the world, the State Department was caught completely napping.

Congress has spent several months of intensive study to ascertain who was responsible for Pearl Harbor; yet no one has lifted a finger to probe the equally important disaster of our unpreparedness for peace.

If Senators probed the files of the State Department, how ever, or even their own files, significant facts would come to light. Senator Wiley of Wisconsin, for instance, has in his

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

There are times when intelligent loafing is an occupation well worth while, especially during a change, or a vacation. Just wandering around, with eyes open, and a heart responsive, without without plan, but not purpose—that purpose being to learn something new, to gain some undiscovered knowledge.

Too many people get all mixed up in a plan, losing the spiritual significance of life itself. Our lives tighten up when too much regimentation is put into a plan. Rather should there be "one increasing purpose" controlling our lives. The plan will then take care of itself.

I like the title of a very fine book on old Walt Whitman, and I immediately bought it. It was called "The Magnificent Idler." Walt Whitman drank freely from every sight in nature. On Fifth Avenue buses, in New York City, he loved to ride and watch people and sights. He liked to sit on benches in the parks and note Nature's unfolding at first hand. He was fascinated with streams, and woodlands, and man and Nature was his universe. He once wrote: "I am immense!"

There is no day here at Week-avenue that is uninteresting. Outside the daily writing of these brief Talks, I have no plans. I just let the day unfold. Familiar paths are trod again and again, and every time new interests appear. It may be the song of a new bird, or a winged stranger, dropping off at the island for a rest or investigation. This year a brood of muskrats have appeared in the lagoon and I have been studying their habits and mode of life with great interest. They dive in the stream, and wander about upon the rocky shore. They seem extremely happy and contented and pay little attention to my watching.

Occasionally a deer will come out in the evening and dine upon some special liking, and early one morning we saw a deer and two does swimming by the island. They are beautiful animals, and I would not harm one under any circumstance, destructive as they often are to gardens. Later in the season new flowers will appear, and the blue berries and huckleberries will be abundant—additional Nature's gifts—highly welcomed under present fruit scarcity.

And so I glory, for a brief period, in just roaming about, without a plan, as anyone can, if he will but choose to do so. And you don't have to have an island on which to do it either!

Maybe you need VITAMINS!

That's a safe conclusion, of course. We all need vitamins. Life can't be maintained without them. But if you have recently undergone unusual stress or strain, you may require more of certain vitamins than the normal diet supplies.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Many Republican politicians already are viewing the defeat of Montana's Senator Wheeler in the state primaries to New Dealer Lief Erickson as a GOP windfall.

The GOP now expects to pick up Wheeler's Senate seat and carry it to the Republican side of the aisle in the upper chamber.

Had Wheeler won the renomination, the Republicans openly concede they would have had little chance to beat the fighting Montanan.

Now, however, they point out that Wheeler had the inferential backing of President Truman, his old Senate colleague and friend. They thus construe Erickson's victory as another rebuff to the president.

Beyond this, the Republicans believe that 80 per cent of Wheeler's backers who supported him for renomination will swing to the Republican candidate, who probably will be Zales N. Ecton when the chips are down in November.

They reason that Erickson, 40-year-old former supreme court judge, has the backing of the CIO, the PAC and Jimmy Roosevelt.

These groups and Wheeler never were bedfellows.

While the economists and the state department aren't saying much about it, they anticipate considerable effect upon United States international relations as a result of the relaxation following lifting of price controls.

Any inflation, is sustained, might help, it was argued, though at the same time it would reduce the value of dollar credits to Britain and France.

Higher prices also are expected to reduce the ability of UNRRA to buy in the United States market as well.

Thus borrowing countries would be more readily able to collect dollars to meet their credit debts.

Some economists, looking a little further forward, also argue that declining value of the dollar in terms of buying goods will reduce the extent of tariff protection to domestic markets.

However, they do not expect that issue to be raised until there is a decline in United States internal trade, when protectionists might again raise the question of further increasing tariffs.

Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, Australian minister of external affairs and, until recently, chairman of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission, went to the Louis-Conn fight in New York with 11 other commission members.

The next day he came to Washington to confer on Pacific bases with President Truman and Acting Secretary of State Acheson.

Sparing with newsmen on various explosive questions, Evatt spoke of the presence of Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko at the prize fight and Gromyko's earlier defense of the veto of the big powers in the Security Council. He said:

"Just the same, Gromyko was unable to veto the triple punch that knocked out Billy Conn. In talking to the press on delicate subjects, I have learned from Conn that it's best to dance on the edge of the ring and not stick my neck out."

ESCAPE

It was horrible. It was one of those things that keep clinging to you like gutter filth like a nightmare you can't shake. Even while I watched it happen — guns flashing across the dark strip of water, men clotting, racing, huddling, boats lunging like beasts of prey through the shadows — even then I couldn't believe it was real. And yet I should have. I'd seen it so often before.

Human beings trying to escape. Killing, clawing in their madness for freedom. It's my job to watch things like that. This time it happened to be that prison break on Alcatraz. But I had seen it take many other forms just as real, just as hideous.

Queer, how we humans spend our lives. Here we are for 60 or 70 years — working, traveling, playing around, making friends, taking an interest in this or that — yet all the time trying to escape. Trying different kinds of escape. Few of us, thank God, end on Alcatraz but it doesn't matter where we live — in a desert shack or at the Waldorf Astoria — or what we're doing. We're all bitten by the same notion of ESCAPE.

Ever stop to think how many forms that notion takes? Maybe you've thought of escape only in connection with criminals. But there are countless other places where escape is a desperate need. Jail cells and endless other ways of escape beside saving bars or digging tunnels.

I know a man who chews his nails. A handsome, successful business man, a fastidious groomed with the exception of those awful finger tips. What on earth possesses him? There he'll stand smiling, seemingly interested in what you're saying and suddenly he'll begin gnawing at those nails like a trapped rat. Why? Because he's imprisoned inside jail cells and endless other ways of escape beside saving bars or digging tunnels.

All his life that man has hated business. For generations his folks were farmers with the feel and the smell of the earth in their blood. Golden woods in the autumn, a dog and a gun. . . a plow or a fishing rod. . . they are as much a part of him as his skeleton. To satisfy an ambitious wife he went into his father's business, did well at it and then he married. Now he's a man who chews his nails. There he'll stand smiling, seemingly interested in what you're saying and suddenly he'll begin gnawing at those nails like a trapped rat. Why? Because he's imprisoned inside jail cells and endless other ways of escape beside saving bars or digging tunnels.

The program will end with a selection by the Lonaconing City band, Mrs. C. H. Goshorn, wife of the Rev. Mr. Goshorn, pastor of the church, is director.

Tomato Crop May Be Cut 35 Per Cent By Blight

COLLEGE PARK, Md., July 28 — Maryland's 1946 tomato crop, representing a loss of $2,500,000 to $3,000,000, farm specialists said today.

A state-wide survey made by the University of Maryland's extension service disclosed this year's prospects. The blight was aggravated by the heavy rainfall early this week. The lower Eastern Shore counties of Somerset, Wicomico and Worcester have been hardest hit, the survey showed. Tomato crops there have been blighted as 75 to 90 per cent by blight, which is believed to have spread from white potato blight.

Many fields of tomatoes in the three Eastern Shore counties were destroyed by the blight and had to be discarded.

The situation threatens the nation's stock of canned tomatoes since Maryland is the leading state in tomato canning.

Aging 5th Avenue Hermit Takes Trip To Felony Court

Langley Collier Leaves Barricaded Mansion To File Complaint

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—The doors of the barricaded brownstone mansion at 207 Fifth avenue creaked ajar Friday and aging Langley Collier made one of his rare excursions into a world forsaken decades ago to live in solitude with his blind, paralyzed brother.

Wearing an ancient blue serge suit, a shirt worn side out, old-fashioned congress gaiters and a black ribbon tie knotted in a huge bow, he boarded a subway and rode downtown to Felony court.

He swore out a complaint against a negro youth charged with ransacking the old Collier home at 207 Fifth avenue, then turned to answer the stares and queries of the strange people about him.

Eyewitness Is Improving

Homers' eyesight is improving, he said, taking a hitch in the huge bundle of newspapers under his arm. "I'm saving these for you to read. I have them back to 1923."

Homers' eyes began to dim in 1933. Spurning all medical aid, the brothers locked themselves inside the old house with 17 pianos and a medical library of 15,000 volumes. "A father, long dead, was a physician."

Langley fed his brother 100 ounces a week and whiled the hours away memorizing 2,500 piano compositions.

"But I don't play anymore," he said today, "because the pianos are in another room."

He said he reads by the light of a kerosene lamp. Homer and he listen to the homemade radio set, powered by a generator assembled from junked automobile parts. Gas, lights and telephone were disconnected years ago.

The last outside known to have seen Homer was a police sergeant, John Collins, who entered the dusty, decaying mansion four years ago to investigate reports that Langley was living with his brother's unburied corpse.

"The room was dark as pitch," Collins said. "I turned on my flashlight and there was Homer sitting up like a mummy on a cot."

Officer Is Cautioned

"I am Homer L. Collier, lawyer," the old man said. "I want the number of your shield and your name. I'm not dead, I'm paralyzed and blind."

Langley cautioned the officer, as he prepared to go, not to trip over the beer cans, nailed on the stairs and through the dark halls — a homemade burglar alarm.

The host of the negro's accused entering is deserted. The government bought it for $100 in 1943 to satisfy $2,500 delinquent income taxes.

As the old man left the court today, he noticed strangers staring at his unadorned footgear.

"I wouldn't wear those scow boat lace shoes," he snorted defiantly. "Never cut corps," he advised, and headed back for 207 Fifth avenue.

LISTEN WORLD

By ELSIE ROBINSON
(Registered U.S. Patent Office)

ESCAPE

It was horrible.

It was one of those things that keep clinging to you like gutter filth. Like a nightmare you can't shake. Even while I watched it happen — guns flashing around the dark strip of water, men clotted, racing, huddling, boats lunging like beasts of prey through the shadows — even then I couldn't believe it was real. And yet I should have. I'd seen it so often before.

Human beings trying to escape. Killing, clawing in their madness for freedom. . . it's my job to watch things like that. This time it happened to be that prison break on Alcatraz. But I have seen it take many other forms just as real, just as hideous.

Quicker, how we humans spend our lives. Here we are for 60 or 70 years — working, traveling, playing around, making friends, taking an interest in this or that — yet all the time trying to escape. Trying different ways. What on earth possesses him? Human beings trying to escape. Killing, clawing in their madness for freedom. . . it's my job to watch things like that. This time it happened to be that prison break on Alcatraz. But I have seen it take many other forms just as real, just as hideous.

Ever stop to think how many forms that notion takes? Maybe you've thought of escape only in connection with criminals. But there are countless other places of imprisonment beside jail cells and endless other ways the escapee finds his way out of his prison. I know a man who chews his nails. A handsome, successful business man, fastidiously groomed with the exception of those raw finger tips. What on earth possesses him? There he's standing smiling, seemingly interested in what you're saying and suddenly he'll begin gnawing at those nails like a trapped rat. Why? Because that's exactly how he feels — trapped. And into that one unconscious, rebellious gesture he'll hurl all his frantic desire for escape.

All his life that man has hated business. For generations his folks were farmers with the feel and the smell of the dirt in their blood. Golden woods in the autumn. . . a dog and a gun. . . a plow or a fishing rod. . . they are as much a part of him as his skeleton. To satisfy an ambitious wife he went into his father's business, did well at it and inherited it eventually. Now people call him successful and sometimes he even thinks he is. Then comes the smell of burning leaves or he'll hear the quail call — and watch those nails!

I know a young wife who spends most of her time day-dreaming. Surely that's an innocent pleasure. Or is it? They haven't much money — he's just getting a foothold since the war. Naturally she can't have the things most brides want — pretty clothes, beauty treatments. So she dreams about them instead. Spend hours and hours dreaming. What's wrong with that? Nothing — maybe. Only, each time she dreams she is wrecking her home and happiness as surely as if she had put dynamite under the doorknob or eloped with some handsome salesman. For dreams are her sole escape. Dreams are her way of deserting and rejecting that husband she vowed to love. She doesn't know it yet, but some day she'll actually desert him if she doesn't stop dreaming. "As a man thinketh in his heart" so shall he shape his life.

Escape. Mad men trying to escape from Alcatraz. All we are trying our own special schemes of escape — alcohol, drugs, gluttony, greed. Just different forms of escape. Gambling, love affairs, window shopping, nagging, laziness. Even religion — that can become a form of escape if you take it the wrong way. Self-pity — there's one of the most popular forms of escape schemes.

What's the answer? Face facts. Admit the truth. Realize one and for all that you can't escape. None of us can. We can improve our condition, we can broaden our horizons, we can increase our interests, bring order out of chaos — but we can never escape reality. If you run away from one condition you will just run into another. And wherever you go you will drag the old restlessness and discontent with you.

So quit chasing your nails. Cut out the day-dreams. Stop haunting the movies and start looking for peace and contentment in the only place where you'll find them — in your own spirit.

Barron Is Winner Of All-American By Single Stroke

New Yorker Pro Noses Out
Vines 280-281 To Cop
$10,500 Purse

BY JERRY LISKA
CHICAGO, July 28—(AP)—Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., the leader from the start, today won the $10,500 purse in the All-American can open tourney, golf's richest meet by closing with a par-matching 72 for a 72-hole aggregate of 280.

Barron was a stroke ahead of extension star Ellsworth Vines of Chicago, who slammed a three-under-par 69 for a 281 total.

Third-place in the 24½ three-ringed All-American circus which was witnessed—by a closing day crowd estimated at 50,500—went to Charles S. Gurnea, Jr., of Detroit, whose wind-up 70 gave him 284.

Ben Hogan Is Fourth
Leading money-winner Ben Hogan, took a final 72, for fourth-place 285, while Claude Harmon of Mamaroneck, N. Y., the 54-hole runner-up to Barron, and Henry Ransom of Dallas, Tex., tied for fifth with 286's.

It was dramatic finish for Barron, who was under exactly the same terrific closing pressure he faced and failed to meet in the recent U. S. open.

As in the U. S. Open, Barron

Three holes to win. On the 16th, three holes to win. This time he had three on the 16th, and four on the 17th and 18th. On the last hole, a three-foot putt did the business.

Ironically, it was a seven-foot miss on the final green that spilled Vines who had uncorked one of the steadiest putting games in the six-year history of the All American.

The 36-year-old Barron, who previously had won only $5,200 this season, held a three-stroke lead at 18 holes with this $45,000 tournament.

He has two over par on the first nine today with a 38, but rallied brilliantly with a birdie four the 40-yard 10th, and another birdie four on the 500-yard 15th which decided the tournament.

Shoots Eight Under Par

Barron's four rounds of 68, 71, 69 and 72 left him eight under par 288 for Tam O'Shanter's 6,760-yard ramble.

Defending Champion Byron Nelson, who last year blazed a record 269, 19 under par, this time finished with 287, only one under par and seven strokes off the pace. Nelson failed to better 70, struggling to Another favorite who stumbled was leading money winner of 1946 Ben Hogan, whose closing 72 gave him a 285.

Refused To Wear Number

Because he failed to wear a number Vines collected only $4,325 instead of the advertised $5,000 second-place money.

"It was a case of dignity ahead of dough," Vines explained. Promoter George S. May had ruled that entries who failed to wear numbers would win 15 per cent less. Barron wore his number from the start.

Inner Sanctum Bumps Off Jackie Coogan's Program

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, July 28—Something of a paradox comes to the CBS schedule Monday night. A winter show comes back, and a summer replacement goes on, one right after the other.

The returnee is Inner Sanctum. It takes a new time and sponsor at 7 p. m. bumping off Jackie Coogan's "Forever Ernest." It starts out with "One More Murder."

The replacement is "Fighting Senator" for 7:30, a drama about a state legislator and his fight against political corruption. It goes in for nine weeks until Joan Davis, who has been off since spring, comes back.

MBS also is offering a couple. At 10:15 a. m. opens Tell Your Neighbor the former Elmo Maxwell time. It is a five-day household hint series. At 10:30 appears Lorenzo Fuller, described as a youthful tenor, from St. Louis two times a week.

The Peace conference at Paris, opening Monday, is to be given quite a bit of consideration in the regular news periods as well as in special programs. One of the later is scheduled for NBC at 7 p. m., to be a roundtable from Paris by six commentators. MBS says that its 11 a. m. and 10 p. m. news times will contain regular Paris excerpts about the conference.

Jaucha Heftetz, as the violin guest of the Don Voorhees concert on NBC at 8 will do an "all-request" program. The Screen Guild is using Allan Jones and Irene Manning at 9 on CBS to give another display of how the two-hour musicale "Naughty Marietta" can be shortened into less than a radio half-hour.

Workers Sue Powder Firm For Back Pay

LAWRENCE, Kas., July 28 (AP)—A million-dollar suit in which former employees are seeking to recover back pay allegedly due them for the time spent in preparing for work at the Sunflower Ordnance works at De Soto, was removed today to federal court on motion of the defendant, the Hercules Powder Company.

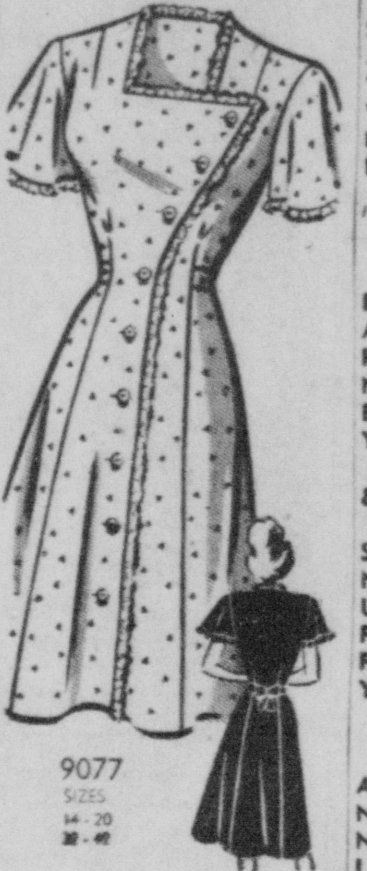

The original 18 plaintiffs who filed the petition in Douglas county district court June 27 estimated the back pay for themselves and other employees would total more than $1,000,000.

The powder company is charged in the petition with requiring employees to spend about an hour daily checking in and dressing in special work clothes.

The employees were not paid for this time, the petition said. Oscar E. Learned, the workers' attorney, said the amount of back pay involved for each employee depends upon the time he worked for Hercules.

Puerto Rico has seen the gradual decline of four of its greater industries—citrus fruits, needlework, tobacco and coffee.

NO! I TELL YOU NO!

WHAT MUST I SAY TO CONVINCE YOU I DON'T WANT ANY?

HE GIVES UP TOO EASY—I WAS JUST ABOUT READY TO BUY ONE

OH! OH! LOOKS LIKE WE'RE GOING FOR A BOAT RIDE!

CAREFUL, YOU BRUTES, THIS MAN IS INJURED!

THIS IS ONE OF MY FAVORITE DREAMS—LOLLING IN A CANOE WITH A SLICK LOOKIN' DAME AT MY SIDE! AH, LIFE IS SWEET!

BUT I CAN'T HELP IT, BUZ. TAKE ME, FRINSTANCE, WHY EVERYBODY SAID I WAS PLUMS HANDSOME BEFORE MY NOSE WAS BUSTED.

THERE YOU GO, WORRYING ABOUT MY NOSE AGAIN.

HONEST, BUZ, YOU CAN'T TELL UNTIL THE SWELLING GOES DOWN. AND WHEN I THINK OF HOW THE GIRLS USED TO GO FOR YOU—

LOOK, CHUM, IF YOU'VE GOT TO WORRY WHY DON'T YOU WONDER WHERE OUR NEXT MEAL'S COMING FROM?

NO FOOLING, YOU HAVE NO IDEA HOW A BUSTED NOSE CAN CHANGE YOUR LOOKS. INSTEAD OF BEING SHORT AND ROUND, IT MAY BECOME LONG AND FLAT LIKE MINE, WIDE AND FLAT, LOPSIDED, HOOKED, OR FULL OF LUMPS.

HEY!! HEY!! TH' FIRE BEETLE'S RED-HOT-- HE'S RUNNIN' EVE TO EVE WITH TH' NEEDLE BUG-- OH OH!! FLOW BEETLE IS OUT OF THE DOUGH-- THE KANSAS CITY-- UH--

HEY, SNUFFY!! WHERE'S TH' KANSAS CITY STRAW WORM??

ONE PENNY'S WORTH OF JELLY BEANS-- TWO PENNIES' WORTH OF GUMDROPS, AND TWO PENNIES' WORTH OF--

WHY, COUSIN CARRIE-- HOW COULD YOU GUESS I WANTED CHOCOLATE CREAMS?

BECAUSE YOU HAVE SPENT YOUR FIVE PENNIES FOR THE SAME CANDIES EVERY YEAR-- YOU'RE ONE OF MY REGULAR CUSTOMERS--

GEE ZERO-- SHE SPENDS HER FIVE PENNIES SO CAREFUL YOU'D THINK IT WAS FIVE DOLLARS-- SHE'S A SMART LITTLE KID--

'CAUSE WHEN YOU KIN ONLY BUY A NICKEL'S WORTH OF CANDY EVERY YEAR, YOU GOTTA BUY TERRIBLE CAREFUL--

HEY WHAT'S TH' IDEE... WHATTA YA MEAN BY RUNNIN' THIS RETRACTASHUN?

NOBBY WALSH CALLED AND SAID THEY WOULDN'T BE JUDGES.

POI, YOU GOTTA WORK ON NOBBY. GIVE THAT SQUAT A BIG LINE. MAKE 'EM THINK YER CRAZY PER 'EM. I'LL WORK ON JOE.

OKAY, HONEY.

HULLO, MR. WALSH, I GOTTA SEE YOU ON A MATTER PER A INDIVIDUAL WHICH IS OF THE UTMOST IMPORTANCE. THIS IS MISS POL MOIRY. I'M DOWNSTAIRS.

WELL, I WAS JUST-- UH-- RIGHT-- I'LL BE RIGHT-- DOWN--

SO YOU'RE A FUGITIVE FROM THE POLICE!

NO, NO! I'M NOT FROM THE POLICE AT ALL. I DON'T WANT ANYTHING TO DO WITH THEM!

WELL, THAT'S QUITE A STORY YOU TELL. BUT I GUESS A FELLOW IS ENTITLED TO AN OCCASIONAL STRETCH OF IMAGINATION.

DOES THAT MEAN A STRETCH IN- IN-

SAY, YOU'RE NOT GOING TO TELL ON ME, ARE YOU?

WE'RE PARTNERS AREN'T WE? THINK I'D SNITCH ON A PAL? NOPE! BUT WE'LL HAVE TO FIND A WAY OUT OF THIS!

DO YOU MEAN IT'S POSSIBLE SHOULDERS WASN'T IN THE PLANE?

OH, I SUPPOSE HE WAS, BUT THIS WHOLE THING SEEMS A LITTLE INCREDIBLE, PAT.

BACK AT THE AIRPORT. THE PLANE WENT OFF THE RUNWAY, THEN TAXIED CRAZILY BEFORE IT TOOK OFF, MR. TRACY.

HERE ARE SOME FOOTPRINTS, PAT.

HE COULD HAVE JUMPED OUT THE PLANE WAS GOING PLENTY FAST, BUT HE COULD HAVE JUMPED OUT.

THERE WAS A GREAT CLOUD OF DUST, IT WAS HARD TO SEE.

YOUR INVITATION TO THE DANCE IS SO SUDEN, YOU'LL SIMPLY HAVE TO GIVE ME TIME TO THINK IT OVER... YES!

W. Maryland Earns $4.66 On Preferred

The Western Maryland Railway has reported for the six months ended June 30 a net income of $826,896 after taxes and fixed charges.

This was equal to $4.66 a share on the seven percent cumulative first preferred stock, and compared with a net income of $1,834,377 or $10.34 a share on that stock for the corresponding period of last year.

Unpaid dividend accumulations on the first preferred stock amounted to $138,254 a share on June 30.

Gross operating revenues totaled $14,656,536 for the first half of this year—down sharply from $18,766,516 for the like period of last year.

Aiding the company was a drop in taxes for six months to $1,862,000 from $3,870,000 a year earlier, and a decrease in fixed charges to $1,460,872 from $1,819,551.

During June, the company cleared a net income of $270,146—an increase over $241,937 for the same 1945 month.

Gross revenues from operations last month aggregated $2,760,102, and were only moderately below the $2,801,507 reported a year earlier.

State Treasury Gets Unspent Appropriations

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 28 (AP)—A total of $822,926 has been returned to the state treasury from unspent appropriations in the fiscal year ended June 30, Gov. O'Connor announced today.

O'Connor said the savings were effected in the budgetary provisions of 73 departments. The largest saving, in the department of public welfare, totaled $156,604.

Under Maryland law the unspent funds revert to the state treasury and are held subject to further action by the Legislature.

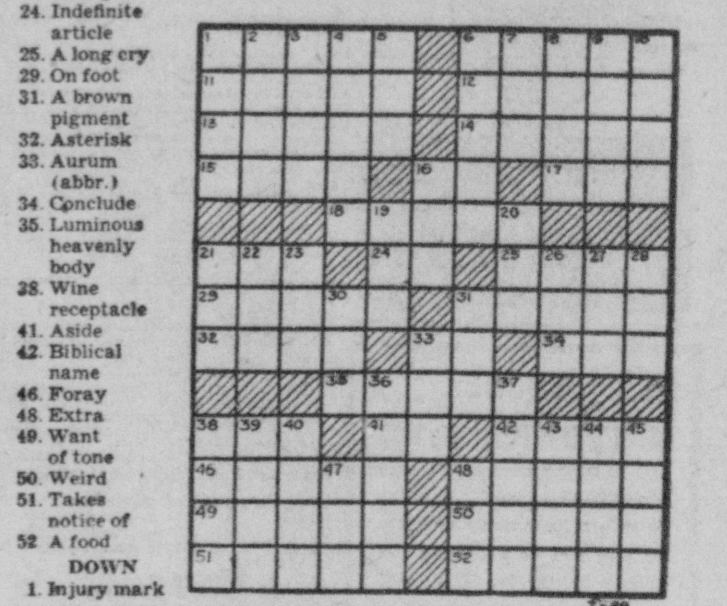

Chief Heenick returned here Friday night after attending the three-day conference attended by more than 1,000 fire chiefs from the United States and Canada.

Better fire protection in hotels in American cities was the chief topic discussed at the 73rd conference of the International Association of Fire Chiefs last week in Cleveland, Fire Chief Reid O. Heenick, reported.

Chief Heenick returned here Friday night after attending the three-day conference attended by more than 1,000 fire chiefs from the United States and Canada.

Joint Committee To Aid Garment Firm Strikers

Asks City Officials To Continue Issuance of Picketing Permits

Striking workers of the Cumberland Undergarment Company received aid yesterday afternoon when a number of individuals affiliated with AFL, CIO, Brotherhoods and Independent unions of this area formed the Western Maryland Joint Union Committee.

The organization, formed at a meeting in Allegany Trades Council hall at 2 p. m. stated it intends to support the strike of Local 434, International Ladies Garment Workers Union; to preserve "a decent American standard of living through fair wages" and to preserve democratic principles and methods in trade unions.

Form Committee

The committee was formed by Benjamin W. O'Rourke, Firemen and Locomotive Engineers, Arthur Schusterman, Local 1874, TWU; J. H. Humberston, Local 312, I. A. of M.; William Boyd Coleman, Local 1874; Miss Rose Booh, Local 634, Retail Clerks; Jack Fees, L. A. H. Chaney, Louise Parnell, Joseph Barley, Richard Parsons, and Earl Jolley, all of Local 1874, TWU; Dorothy Fees, Evelyn Coleman, Violet Lohr, Marguerite Chase, all of Local 434, ILGWU; Mrs. Bernadette Trost, Laundry Workers No. 40; W. Henry Frazier, Typographical Workers, and Edward Mullen, Local 569, Bartenders Union.

On accepting membership on the committee, Arthur Schusterman, co-chairman, said, the individuals made it clear they were attending as individuals and expressed the view that their organizations and many others would officially sanction such action when the organizations had a chance to hold regular membership meetings.

The committee of which Edward Mullin is AFL, Arthur Schusterman, CIO, and William Hughes, Independent union, issued the following statement:

Issue Statement

"The committee recognizes the present strike at the Cumberland Undergarment Company as a justifiable and legal strike. We call upon those employees of the Cumberland Undergarment Company to refuse to cross the picket line and to disassociate themselves from the strike breaking tactics of Irwin Jaffee, who discredited himself in the eyes of Western Maryland labor, and who is not at all welcome in this vicinity. He, without any attempt of receiving consent from the labor movement here, led a small minority of employees across the picket line and issued vicious statements to the press and autocratically suspended 12 members of the union in violation of the by-laws and constitution of an organization in which he holds no membership.

"Through the activities of the organized labor movement here, a 50 cent minimum wage was established in 1925 for common labor. Now a so-called labor-leader insists on a wage far below even that old and outmoded standard.

"We do not believe that the business men of Western Maryland can prosper or even exist if they are to become dependent on a buying power of $16 per week from people in this vicinity. We know from experience that workers cannot buy

Baltimore Woman Is Awarded Child

A Baltimore woman was awarded the custody of her child following a writ of habeas corpus hearing in circuit court Friday afternoon by Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge Walter C. Capper.

William M. Somerville, counsel for Mrs. Ethel L. Smith, Baltimore, filed petition against Mrs. Anna N. Smith and H. Edgar Smith, 814 Stewart avenue, this city, alleging that the child's grandparents were "illegally detaining" the boy at their home. The court granted the plea and ordered the boy, William R. Smith, Jr., returned to his mother.

During the testimony, Mrs. Smith said she is estranged from her husband who is a warrant officer in the army. She resides with Mrs. Letitia F. Glocker, Baltimore.

More than 80 persons are involved in a "partition suit" docketed by Leslie J. Clark, attorney for Mrs. Mary Ellen Nicol Dittler and 72 other persons, against Margaret Muir and her four other defendants. Clark said it was a "friendly suit."

The application of C. William Spangler, for a Class C club license to be used by J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, American Veterans of World War II, at the club rooms on the third floor of the old Citizens' National Bank building, was approved Saturday by Chief Judge Huster.

State Guard Units Arrive At Camp Ritchie

Third Exploration Of Cavern Is Made By William E. Davis, Geologist

CAMP RITCHIE, Md., July 28.—(P)—A week of army life and armory detachments began today for 1,500 Maryland state guardsmen, who arrived here from armories throughout the state in trucks, jeeps, scout cars, ambulances and motorcycles.

Nine battalions of troops and several detachments have made the facilities of the mud layers are not that of mud deposited by water."

The investigation is just begun, he explained, and will continue over a fair period of time, including experiments to discover where the water returns to the earth's surface, as well as the problems of getting delicate instruments into the cave. In the meantime, he said, safety reasons, no one will be permitted in the caverns, Mrs. Austin D. Twigg announced.

Davies, who served as a geologist with the state of Pennsylvania prior to the war, and since his discharge from service, has been working in the army map service in Washington, is especially interested in limestone, and that is the formation of the Twigg Cove cave, he explains.

State guard officers said the army's improvements have made the facilities the best they have ever had—electric dishwashers included.

The guardsmen will be relieved of further military duties when the reorganized national guard takes over early next year, guard officers said.

Field drill and rifle practice begin tomorrow.

The sixth annual encampment is being held here for the first time since 1942, when the army took over the area for use as a military intelligence training center.

Voting Machines' Qualities Cited By Election Board

County Supervisors Give Five Reasons For Urging Their Purchase

The Board of Election Supervisors of Allegany County has released a statement citing five reasons why the county commissioners should purchase voting machines for Allegany county.

In the statement election officials point out that when the suggestion was first made to the commissioners, before the primary election, they were told to wait. "About ten days ago," the statement points out, "the request was renewed but the matter has been deferred."

"I think in fairness to all concerned that the board of supervisors should present to the public its reason for advocating the use of voting machines," one of the board officials said. Reasons making the machine desirable, according to the statement are as follows:

"1. Voting machines are now being used by approximately thirty-five hundred cities and other political units throughout the country, and they have proved highly satisfactory where they are used.

"2. The machines enable the result of the vote in elections to be definitely ascertained within a few hours after the polls close.

"3. They prevent the spoiling of ballots by the voters and the consequent loss of their votes.

"4. They avoid the necessity of any recounts.

"5. Their use is economical because it results in a reduction in election expenses by reducing the number of precincts needed for the voters; by reducing the number of election officials needed in each precinct from six to four; by eliminating the payment of overtime to election officials; by eliminating the printing of thousands of paper ballots; and by eliminating the expense of recounts.

"According to a study of the election setup in this county, the reductions to be brought about by voting machines here in each election year would be as follows:

(1) Reduction of precincts from 75 to 51	$5,334.40
(2) Reduction of election officials in 51 precincts from six to four	1,120.00
(3) Reduction in overtime	1,387.20
(4) Reduction in cost of paper ballots, about	1,000.00
TOTAL	$9,041.60

"In addition, the cost of any possible recounts would be eliminated and the recount in 1938 alone cost the county about $3,000.

"The machines needed for this county would cost $13,561.54 a year for ten years, and then they would be paid for, while the saving of approximately $9,000 in every election year would continue indefinitely.

"The Board of Supervisors of Elections also had another strong reason for suggesting the purchase of the machines at this time. The present poll books of the county cannot be used after the election in November, as all the spaces in them will be filled up. It will therefore be necessary for the Board of Supervisors to purchase new books, which are quite expensive. However, if voting machines were secured, the Board believes that arrangements could be made to use a card system of registration such as is used in Baltimore City, and the cost of this would be considerably less than would the purchase of new poll books of the kind now used.

"In addition, if new poll books are purchased, it would be necessary to transcribe the names of the voters from the old books, or to have a new general registration, either of which would cost many thousands of dollars. The new poll books would be good for about ten years, and if machines were adopted in the meantime the county would have to pay for another job of transcribing names to the card system as soon as the machines were purchased, or they would have to pay for this when the new poll books were exhausted.

"Voting machines have been in use in Baltimore City and in Montgomery County for some years, and the election officials in both places assure us that the machines have given highly satisfactory service, and that they are much better than the old paper ballots. The actual fact is that voting machines are being rapidly adopted all over the country, they greatly expedite the securing of election returns, they eliminate the spoiling of ballots and the depriving of voters of their vote, they save time, and they increase the accuracy of the vote and avoid recounts, and they reduce the cost of elections. It was for these reasons and because the present poll books are exhausted that the Board of

NEW MEDICAL COLUMN MAKES ITS DEBUT TODAY

The Cumberland News is today offering its readers a new medical column "HOW TO KEEP WELL," that will be found each day on Page 4.

"HOW TO KEEP WELL" is written by Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen, who has been steeped in the tradition of medicine almost since his birth. His father, Dr. Robert L. Van Dellen, is still active in his practice. He, himself, has had a sound education in medical knowledge and training and has added specialized techniques, particularly in internal medicine and in heart disease. While associate attending physician of Cook County hospital, Chicago, Ill., he organized and directed one of the largest arterial vascular clinics in the country.

Dr. Van Dellen is also cardiac consultant at the LaRabida Sanatorium for rheumatic children, and director of the cardiac clinic at Northwestern University Medical school. Recognition of his specialized knowledge in internal medicine came in his selection as one of 15 doctors, all specialists in various diseases, as medical consultant for the diagnostic center at Hines hospital.

Dr. Van Dellen's daily column should bring to the readers of the Cumberland News interesting information about themselves and advice that should prove valuable.

Most Persons Now City's Financial Understand Rent Position Shown Setup, White Says As About Normal

Approximately 150 Inquiries Made At Local Office On Saturday

Most local persons appear to understand clearly that the new OPA law establishes ceiling prices on rent, and Caleb J. White, local OPA rent director said those calling at his office are fewer in number than might have been expected.

The rent office was open Saturday to serve people with questions, although the office normally operates on a five-day week basis. White said about 150 inquiries were made at the office Saturday, and most persons asked one of two questions: "Can I raise my tenants rent?" or "Can my landlord raise my rent?"

In each case the answer was "No," White explained.

Ceilings on rents are the same as they were before the old OPA law expired. Any raise made in the interim period, and collected, White declared, may be kept by the landlord, but rents must be rolled back to their former OPA ceilings.

The commodity price control picture seems much more garbled and local OPA price control workers are awaiting a full set of instructions from Baltimore regional office.

Mrs. Mary S. Jones, chief OPA clerk said, "the nation's food industries have started a 25-day trial period during which meat, poultry, butter, eggs and other dairy products will sell in an uncontrolled market."

Under the new OPA bill, ceilings on meat and dairy commodities will go back on price control August 21, under the new three-man de-control agency appointed by President Truman, unless a regulation is issued before that time exempting them from price control.

Poultry and eggs are exempted indefinitely, subject only to the board's authority to recontrol them. Meanwhile, OPA officials say the tendency of the public to refrain from buying items on which prices have soared, has been of great help against inflation and is forcing these prices back down.

For the first time in many weeks, there has been an ample supply of meat, butter, etc., in most retail outlets, and housewives just ignore the nicely priced display cases, because the price is too high. Officials believe too, that more meat, butter and other scarce items are beginning to flow into normal retail channels. Sugar remains on the scarcity list.

New Auxiliary Pipe Line Is Connected

The task of connecting the new 24-inch auxiliary pipe-line from Lake Gordon dam with the main 24-inch trunk line at Baltimore street, was completed on schedule yesterday morning, according to Andrew G. Bender, city water superintendent.

Water to some sections of the city was shut off for about 15 hours Saturday night and Sunday morning while the work was being done.

Late yesterday afternoon, after pressure had been built up in the line, there was a second interruption in service, for about an hour, while a minor leak was sealed.

Following an announcement by Commissioner William J. Edwards that water service would be interrupted Saturday night and Sunday, about 250 families made advance preparations by filling bath tubs and other utensils with water, and officials said last night, no one complained about the inconvenience.

Two Cresaptown Girls Are Hit By Automobiles

Judith Ann Winebrenner Is Admitted To Memorial Hospital

Two Cresaptown girls, one 5 and the other 11 years old, were injured, one seriously enough to be admitted to a hospital, after they were struck by cars near their homes yesterday.

Judith Ann Winebrenner, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Winebrenner, Cresaptown, was in a "good" condition last night in Memorial hospital where she was admitted at 11:30 a. m. for a possible fracture of the collarbone and abrasions of the face, head and arms.

The child's mother told attaches that Irma had purchased a sack of candy at a store, ran across the street and collided with a car driven by W. D. Hardy. The driver's address was not available.

Joint Committee To Aid Garment Firm Strikers

Asks City Officials To Continue Issuance of Picketing Permits

Striking workers of the Cumberland Undergarment Company received aid yesterday afternoon when a number of individuals affiliated with AFL, CIO, Brotherhoods and Independent unions of this area formed the Western Maryland Joint Union Committee.

The organization, formed at a meeting in Allegheny Trades Council hall at 2 p. m. stated it intends to support the strike of Local 434, International Ladies Garment Workers Union; to preserve "a decent American standard of living through fair wages" and to preserve democratic principles and methods in trade unions.

Form Committee

The committee was formed by Benjamin W. O'Rourke, Firemen and Locomotive Engineers; Arthur Schusterman, Local 1874, TWU; J. H. Humbertson, Local 212, I. A. of M.; William Boyd Coleman, Local 1874; Miss Rose Koch, Local 854, Retail Clerks; Jack Pies, L. H. Chapman, Louise Farnell, Joseph Barley, Richard Parsons, and Earl Jolley, all of Local 1874, TWU; Dorothy Fess, Evelyn Coleman, Violet Lohr, Marguerite Chase, all of Local 434, ILGWU; Mrs. Bernadette Trost, Laundry Workers No. 40; W. Henry Praxler, Typographical Workers, and Edward Mullen, Local 589, Bartenders Union.

On accepting membership on the committee, Arthur Schusterman, co-chairman said, the individuals made it clear they were attending as individuals and expressed the view that their organizations and many others would officially sanction such action when the organizations had a chance to hold regular membership meetings.

The committee of which Edward Mullen, AFL, is co-chairman; Arthur Schusterman, CIO, and William Hughes, Independent union, issued the following statement:

Issue Statement

"The committee recognizes the present strike at the Cumberland Undergarment Company as a justifiable and legal strike. We call upon those employees of the Cumberland Undergarment Company to refuse to cross the picket line and to disassociate themselves from the strike breaking tactics of Irwin Jaffee, who discredited himself in the eyes of Western Maryland labor, and who is not at all welcome in this vicinity. He, without any attempt of receiving counsel from the labor movement here, led a small minority of employees across the picket line and issued vicious statements to the press and automatically suspended 12 members of the union in violation of the by-laws and constitution of an organization in which he holds no membership.

"Through the activities of the organized labor movement here, a 50 cent minimum wage was established in 1929 for common labor. Now a so-called labor leader in state on a wage far below even that old and outmoded standard.

"We do not believe that the business men of Western Maryland can prosper or even exist if they are to become dependent on a buying power of $16 per week from people in this vicinity. We know from experience that the labor cannot exist on a wage far below even that old and outmoded standard.

Baltimore Woman Is Awarded Child

A Baltimore woman was awarded the custody of her child following a writ of habeas corpus hearing in circuit court Friday afternoon by Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge Walter C. Capper.

William M. Somerville, counsel for Mrs. Ethel L. Smith, Baltimore, filed petition against Mrs. Anna N. Smith and H. Edgar Smith, 814 Stewart avenue, this city, alleging that the child's grandparents were "illegally detaining" the boy at their home. The court granted the plea and ordered the boy, William R. Smith, Jr., returned to his mother.

During the testimony, Mrs. Smith said she is estranged from her husband who is a warrant officer in the army. She resides, with Mrs. Letitia F. Glicker, Baltimore.

More than 80 persons are involved in a "partition suit" docketed by J. Clark, attorney for Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith. Differing counsel for Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Edgar Smith and four other defendants. Clark said it was a "friendly suit."

The application of C. William Spangler, for a Class C club license to be used by J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, American Veterans of World War II, at the club rooms on the third floor of the old Citizens National Bank building, was approved Saturday by Chief Judge Huster.

Third Exploration Of Cavern Is Made By William E. Davies, Geologist

CAMP RITCHIE, Md., July 28—A week of army life and army rations began today for 1,500 Maryland state guardsmen, who arrived here from armories throughout the state in trucks, jeeps, scout cars, ambulances and motorcycles.

Nine battalions of troops and several detachment units answered the mess roll call after spending most of the day getting settled in their barracks. There was no drill and no regular assignments—except for KP duty.

The sixth annual encampment is being held here for the first time since 1942, when the army took over the area for use as a military intelligence training center.

State guard officers said the army's improvements have made the facilities the best they have ever had—electric dishwashers included.

The guardsmen will be relieved of further military duties when the reorganized national guard takes over early next year, guard officers said.

Maj. Gen. Dwight M. Mohr, commander of the state guard since its organization, will be in personal command of the troops, his headquarters said.

Two days will be devoted to rifle practice and other training time will be spent on riot control work and civilian disturbance and emergency practices.

Companies C and D of the Eighth Battalion, commanded by Capt. Thomas P. Conlon and Capt. Lester L. Bolinger, left the armory here Sunday at 8 a. m. in five large army buses for the week of training. A total of 90 local men and officers, including several veterans of World Wars I and II made up the local contingent.

Seek Missing Youth

City police were still trying last night to locate Jack Mauk, 14, who was reported missing from his home, 142 Arch street, Saturday. The lad is 5 feet 5 inches tall, has dark brown eyes and is dark complexioned, police were told.

Voting Machines' Qualities Cited By Election Board

County Supervisors Give Five Reasons For Urging Their Purchase

The Board of Election Supervisors of Allegany County has released a statement citing five reasons why the county commissioners should purchase voting machines for Allegany county.

In the statement election officials point out that when the suggestion was first made to the commissioners, before the primary election, they were told to wait. "About ten days ago," the statement points out, "the request was renewed but the matter has been deferred."

"I think in fairness to all concerned that the board of supervisors should present to the public its reasons for advocating the use of voting machines," one of the board officials said. Reasons making the machine desirable, according to the statement are as follows:

"1. Voting machines are now being used by approximately thirty-five hundred cities and other political units throughout the country, and they have proved highly satisfactory where they are used.

"2. The machines enable the result of the vote in election to be definitely ascertained within a few hours after the polls close.

"3. They prevent the spoiling of ballots by the voters and the consequent loss of their votes.

"4. They avoid the necessity of any recounts.

"5. Their use is economical because it results in a reduction in election expenses by reducing the number of precincts needed for the voters; by reducing the number of election officials needed in each precinct from six to four; by eliminating the payment of overtime to election officials; by eliminating the printing of thousands of paper ballots; and by eliminating the expense of recounts.

"According to a study of the election setup in this county, the reduction to be brought about by voting machines here in each election year would be as follows:

(1) Reduction of precincts from 75 to 51	$5,334.40
(2) Reduction of election officials in 51 precincts from six to four	1,120.00
(3) Reduction in overtime	1,387.20
(4) Reduction in cost of paper ballots, about	1,000.00
TOTAL	$9,041.60

"In addition, the cost of any possible recounts would be eliminated, and the recount in 1938 alone cost the county about $3,000.

"The machines needed for this county would cost $13,567.54 a year for ten years, and then they would be paid for, while the saving of approximately $9,000 in every election year would continue indefinitely.

"The Board of Supervisors of Elections also had another strong reason for suggesting the purchase of the machines at this time. The present poll books of the county cannot be used after the election in November, as all the spaces in them will be filled up. It will therefore be necessary for the Board of Supervisors to purchase new books, which are quite expensive. However, if voting machines were secured, the Board believes that arrangements could be made to use a card system of registration such as is used in Baltimore City, and the cost of this would be considerably less than would the purchase of new poll books of the kind now used. In addition, if new poll books are purchased, it would be necessary to transcribe the names of the voters from the old books, or to have a new general registration, either of which would cost many thousands of dollars. The new poll books would be good for about ten years, and if machines were adopted in the meantime the county would have to pay for another job of transcribing names to the card system as soon as the machines were purchased, or they would have to pay for this when the new poll books were exhausted.

"Voting machines have been in use in Baltimore City and in Montgomery County for some years, and the election officials in both places assure us that the machines have given highly satisfactory service, and that they are much better than the old paper ballots. The actual fact is that voting machines are being rapidly adopted all over the country, they greatly expedite the securing of election returns, they eliminate the spoiling of ballots and the depriving of voters of their vote, they avoid any question as to the accuracy of the vote and avoid recounts, and they reduce the cost of elections. It was for these reasons and because the present poll books are exhausted that the Board of

NEW MEDICAL COLUMN MAKES ITS DEBUT TODAY

The Cumberland News is today offering its readers a new medical column "HOW TO KEEP WELL," that will be found each day on Page 4.

"HOW TO KEEP WELL" is written by Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen, who has been steeped in the tradition of medicine almost since his birth. His father, Dr. Robert L. Van Dellen, is still active in his practice. He, himself, has had a sound education in medical knowledge and training and has added specialized techniques, particularly in internal medicine and in heart disease. While associate attending physician of Cook County hospital, Chicago, Ill., he organized and directed one of the largest arterial vascular clinics in the country.

Dr. Van Dellen is also cardiac consultant at the LaRabida Sanatorium for rheumatic children, and director of the cardiac clinic at Northwestern University Medical school. Recognition of his specialized knowledge in internal medicine came in his selection as one of 15 doctors, all specialists in various diseases, as medical consultant for the diagnostic center at Hines hospital.

Dr. Van Dellen's daily column should bring to the readers of the Cumberland News interesting information about themselves and advice that should prove valuable.

Most Persons Now City's Financial Understand Rent Position Shown Setup, White Says As About Normal

Approximately 150 Inquiries Made At Local Office On Saturday

Most local persons appear to understand clearly that the new OPA law establishes ceiling prices on rent, and Caleb J. White, local OPA rent director said those calling at his office are fewer in number than might have been expected.

The rent office was open Saturday to serve people with questions, although the office normally operates on a five-day week basis. White said
